2 TYPES OF ISSUES TO TEST REACTION TO FEDERAL PLANS

Morgenthau Announces Opening Step in Government's Program To Sell $10,000,000,000 in Securities During Next Year.

WALL STREET SEES OVERSUBSCRIPTION

Notes for Year Bear 2 1/2 Per Cent Interest While Those for Six Months Are To Yield 1 1/2 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A billion-dollar start was made by the treasury today in its giant task of borrowing $10,000,000,000 to meet recovery costs and maturing debts between now and June 30.

Two types of short-term issues were offered by Secretary Morgenthau in a routine financial statement.

One was a $500,000,000 issue of treasury notes, paying 2 1/2 per cent interest, dated January 29 and maturing March 15, 1935. The other was $500,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness bearing 1 1/2 per cent, dated January 29, and maturing September 15 of this year.

Over-subscription. Securities circles anticipated a heavy oversubscription of both issues, it was indicated in dispatches received tonight from New York. The terms of the paper are particularly attractive to investment sources, it is believed.

Announcement of the first borrowing, which was planned carefully in conferences between President Roosevelt and federal reserve bank officials, coincided with a statement that internal revenue collections for the first half of the 1934 fiscal year, showing total payment of $1,215,545,550 as compared with $1,447,437,495 for the corresponding 1933 period.

Big contributors to the increase were $140,563,000 in agricultural processing plants which were not effective last year, and $88,000,000 in manufacturers' excise taxes, $34,170,000 in liquor and beer, $79,339,000 in capital stock levies, $27,081,000 from dividends and $54,024,000 from estates.

Yield Up. In December, the first month of legal liquor, distilled spirits paid the treasury $8,651,000 as compared with $597,921 in December, 1932.

Morgenthau's financial announcement opened the current period of huge government peace-time borrowing. President Roosevelt has estimated the treasury must sell $10,000,000,000 of obligations before the end of the current fiscal year.

Observers look for another public offering in a few weeks, probably early in February. Not only the $10,000,000,000 of obligations, but the government borrow $80,000,000,000 for recovery expenditures but $4,000,000,000 of outstanding obligations mature in the first six months of 1934.

March 15 is the date of the first large maturity when $400,000,000 in certificates must be met. Then on April 15 approximately a billion dollars in called four and a half per cent bonds due. A conversion issue probably will be offered in exchange.

A $174,905,000 certificate issue mature June 15. The remainder of the $4,000,000,000 in maturities is composed of three-month treasury bills which turn over rapidly and sell at

Man Jailed in Slaying of Chappell in 1932

Virginia Gasser Strikes At Three More Homes

FINGERS, Va., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The addition of three more attacks by gas to the series of nearly a score such assaults on homes in this section during the last month lent additional impetus today to the investigation of the mysterious activities of the perpetrator.

In one of the three attacks occurring last night, the man was seen by a victim who chased the stealthy culprit across a field and fired at him with his gun. There was no indication, however, that the shot took effect.

That was the first time since the attacks began about a month ago that the "gasser" was distinctly seen.

MAYOR KEY'S VETO OF FINANCE SHEET TO BE SUSTAINED

Banks Advise White Funds Could Not Be Advanced on Budget. Council Meets Today.

Mayor James L. Key's veto of the 1934 finance sheet carrying allocations totaling about $9,000,000 for all departments for the year will be sustained at a special session of council at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The strong effort to override the mayor and pass the sheet, which makes a $300,000 contingent fund available to schools for budgeting purposes, appeared last Tuesday after Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, obtained a statement from F. W. Blacklock, vice president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, to the effect that the city would not be able to obtain money on the sheet, even if council overrode the veto.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman, who Monday night entertained members of council at the Standard Club, and where opposition to Key's veto was cemented at first said when advised of the attitude of the bankers that he would move today to file the veto, which would sustain the mayor, and that he would adjourn until Friday. The adjourned meeting, Berman explained, would be to permit the finance committee to redraft the finance sheet. However, he later said that no motion to adjourn would be made and that a finish fight to override Key would be made today.

Redrafting Unnecessary. Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee, and other administration leaders, insisted that no redrafting is necessary, but that replacement of the $300,000 fund in contingent accounts would correct excess allocations and pave the way for preservation of the city's credit. They held that the banks would lend money on the present sheet, with the contingent fund re-established.

Councilman Howard Haile, of the ninth ward, said he had agreed to aid in overriding Key's veto at the Monday night session, but that he would vote to sustain the mayor in the light of the new development.

Alderman Ellis B. Barker, of the 12th ward, said he would support the resolution at today's session praising the police committee for its effort to increase revenue of the municipality by

CHARLES STANTON ADMITTED KILLING, WOMAN ASSERTS

Prisoner Denies He Attempted To Hold Up Stoddard Cleaning Co. and Then Slew Auditor.

Solution of the year-old mystery of the fatal shooting of James T. Chappell, auditor of the Stoddard Dry Cleaning Company, during an attempted holdup, was claimed Tuesday by city detectives with the arrest of Charles Stanton, 25, alias Charlie Cooper.

Detectives based their arrest early Tuesday morning on a tip which, they said, was confirmed by the alleged slaying of a woman found with Stanton that he had admitted the killing to her. The woman, who gave her name as Maxine Stanton, but who later told reporters that she is a Maxine Davis, of West Virginia, was held as a material witness.

Officers said that Stanton was identified as the slayer by a witness whose name they withheld to prevent him from being "placed on the spot." The witness, officers said, was being held as a material witness for his own safety. Details of the identification were withheld.

Stanton denied all knowledge of the Chappell case, detectives said after questioning the suspect.

According to Detective Lieutenant Lon Evans and Detectives W. B. Martin and D. L. Taylor, who made the arrest, Stanton told them that Stanton-Davis woman told them that Stanton, with whom she had been living for several months, told her all about the Chappell case and admitted that Chappell was shot by him.

Stanton was locking the front door of the Stoddard offices at West Peachtree and Third streets during November, 1932, while his wife was waiting in an automobile across the street, having come to take him home, when a lone white man appeared and demanded of the Chappell woman that she open the door and admit him to the safe. Chappell refused to comply with the demand and a few minutes later the man escaped in a car parked near by.

Chappell lived for some time after the shooting, but died from effects of the wound, it was said.

COOKING SCHOOL DRAWS THROGS

Great Crowd Grets Opening of The Constitution's Annual Event.

Addressing one of the largest opening day crowds ever attending a cooking school in Atlanta, Miss Ruth Chambers thrilled her audience with a "parade of food."

Displaying her finished efforts in front of an illuminated mirror, every homemaker in the audience saw the completed dishes, which Miss Chambers had prepared.

With a variety of recipes appealing to housewives of every class, Miss Chambers and her assistant, Miss Emily Conklin, won the praise of those attending with the splendid manner in which the foods were prepared.

At the end of her lecture Miss Chambers awarded 10 of the dishes she prepared as attendance prizes.

Promptly at 8:45 a fashion show of winter styles was staged by Sears, Roebuck & Co. Mrs. Sarah Barnes, advertising manager of Sears, was the stylist, and her descriptions and apt comments were warmly received.

Mrs. Claude A. McGinnis Jr., was hostess and paid tribute to Miss Chambers as a nationally-known authority.

The Constitution Cooking School will continue today, Thursday and Friday at the Capitol theatre. The doors will be open promptly at 8 a. m., and admission is free. Every homemaker in Atlanta is invited to attend the three remaining sessions.

MORE PHONE CUTS CUBA IS GRANTED ORDERED BY BOARD U. S. RECOGNITION

Reductions of From 15 to 28 Per Cent Ordered for Three Companies.

The Georgia public service commission Tuesday ordered reduction in rates charged subscribers of three independent telephone companies. The reductions are between 15 and 28 per cent, Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the commission said.

The companies affected are the Georgia Continental Telephone Company which serves northeast and southwest Georgia, the Southeastern Telephone Company, with southeast Georgia, and the Central Telephone Company which serves a wide south-central area.

Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the federal court, heard on Tuesday the case, which was brought by the Georgia Continental Telephone Company, a petition of the Thomson Telephone Company for a temporary order restraining the public service commission from putting into effect a recent order for lower telephone rates in Thomson.

The petitioners, through John H. McGeehee Jr. and W. M. Dallas, its attorneys, claimed that the order was confiscatory and that the company's income would not justify the cut. It was also charged that the commission was hostile toward public utilities. Judge Underwood reserved his decision.

The new rates fixed Tuesday go into effect February 1. The rates for the rural phone rate was fixed at $1.50 a month each. The commission, in addition to the general schedules, fixed a four-party business rate, $2.50 a month.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK FOR $350,000,000 TO CONTINUE CWA

Fund Will Continue Work Until May 1, When It Is Hoped Business Will Absorb Men on Pay Rolls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The administration hopes that the work of the civil works administration can be kept up until May 1, when the expiration date was fixed definitely today by Harry L. Hopkins, director of the agency, as he emerged from a conference with President Roosevelt. There was attached to the deadline date, however, a reservation that if private industry could not find jobs for a good share of the 4,000,000 workers by that time, Mr. Roosevelt would consider the question of extending the life of the agency.

Shortly before Hopkins entered the executive office, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, left Mr. Roosevelt's work room expressing a belief that "everything will work out all right."

Mr. Roosevelt planned to send to Capitol Hill tomorrow a budgetary request for a $350,000,000 appropriation for the civil works administration, an amount he estimated would be sufficient to carry its efforts to May 1.

Meanwhile, reports sprang up that efforts might be made to raise the appropriation to two billion dollars and continue the work for another year. Some house members were reported to be contemplating such an effort.

The administration was predicting its action to end the civil works by early spring on the belief that at least three of the four million workers would find jobs elsewhere by then, either in private work or in the public works administration projects that are expected to be well under way with the passing of freezing weather.

It was pointed out elsewhere that a pickup in employment by May might be the result of either two factors, a natural upswing resulting from an increased demand for goods or an increase of the number of workers.

GASOLINE BLAST TAKES FIVE LIVES

Farmhouse in N. Georgia Scene of Tragedy; Two Children Escape.

CANTON, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mother, father and three children of a farm family of seven were dead today from an explosion of gasoline being poured into an old-fashioned lamp.

Rufus Cochran died today in a Canton hospital from burns received last night when the fuel exploded in the kitchen of their home 10 miles from Ballground, Ga.

Mrs. Cochran, her children, Milton, 9, and Elizabeth, 3, died in the fire. Two other children, a boy of 7 and a baby of 15 months, escaped.

The boy ran three miles to the nearest neighbors to summon help. When the neighbors arrived they found four members of the family dead. The father and two young children were removed here, along with the remains of those burned fatally.

The remains will be buried in a single grave following funeral services at 11 a. m. tomorrow at Mica Baptist church. The two orphans and their four grandparents survive.

Philippines to Get Last Freedom Chance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The senate territories committee voted today to give the Philippines "one more chance" to accept congressional independence legislation with the warning it would be the last opportunity given the islands for independence.

Voting to extend the life of the Hawes-Cutting bill by nine months to allow the Filipino people a chance to vote on it at the June elections, the committee again put the issue of acceptance squarely up to the islands and stated no other action would be taken in the present session of congress.

Chairman Tydings announced this extension of time "represents the committee's desire to give the Filipino people one more chance to accept or reject the Hawes-Cutting bill. If, after the new elections to be held in June, the legislature again fails to take action or acts adversely upon the Hawes-Cutting law, it will be notice to congress that the Filipino people do not desire independence, and do desire to continue with their present status."

ANTI-LONG TICKET RUNS FAR AHEAD IN NEW ORLEANS

WALMSLEY HOLDS BIG LEAD WITH WILLIAMS AND LONG'S CANDIDATE, KLOER, NECK AND NECK.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley and the old regular city hall ticket which sought re-election on a flat anti-Huey P. Long platform, tonight forged into a commanding lead, short of a clear nominating majority, as returns were slowly compiled from today's mayoralty primary, marked by a record turnout at the polls.

On the basis of the early returns, a second primary appeared probable, and Francis Williams, independent anti-long candidate, and John Klorer, the Long entry, were in a neck-and-neck race for second place, even small precincts claiming their standings as the night wore on.

Only 37 precincts had been officially compiled from the city's 202 at 10:30 p. m., due to a count of the full ticket, which ran down to precinct constables. This compilation gave Walmsley 3,897; Klorer, 3,253, and Williams 3,130. Herbert Homes, an independent, had 56 votes.

Commanding leads similar to Walmsley's were registered in the same race for the incumbent commission council.

Eugene Stanley, incumbent district attorney, who prosecuted election law and registration fraud charges in recent months and who was backed for re-election by both Walmsley and Williams, appeared to be rolling up a clear commanding majority over two opponents, Augustus Williams and Richard Dowling.

Both Walmsley and Klorer headquarters claimed to have more bulky returns than the official compilation at 10 p. m. The Klorer headquarters claiming returns from 32 precincts showed Walmsley 9,290; Klorer 6,504, and Williams 6,131.

650 Signers Claimed For Decatur Recall

A recall election aimed against City Commissioners George W. Woods and R. C. Henderson, of Decatur, Tuesday night was believed assured by those sponsoring it as they asserted that 650 names of voters have been obtained on the recall petition.

Recall forces announced that a mass meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Decatur courthouse, at which time it is hoped by the recallists that at least 1,000 names will be on the petition, although a quarter of the 2,900 registration list is sufficient for the election.

Will Weaver, Decatur attorney for W. H. Weaver, ousted city engineer, whose dismissal by the commission was responsible for initiation of the recall movement, and Max Scott Candler, whose faction lost its balance of power with the election to the board of Mayor J. C. Johnson, will be the speakers at the meeting.

The recall petition will be presented to the city commission at a date to be decided later, and an election within 30 days is mandatory on presentation of the petition.

COOKS AND WAITERS IN WALDORF STRIKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The 600 cooks and waiters of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel walked out without notice at the height of the dinner hour tonight and paralyzed the dining room service.

The management had no more waiting than two hundred of the hotel's 1,000 guests in the half dozen dining rooms. Some of them were halfway through their dinners. They had to go elsewhere for dessert and coffee.

Bellhops and doormen were recruited to serve food which already had been prepared for several banquets.

Oscar Tschirky, the famed "Oscar of the Waldorf," wrung his hands. Henrique Madriguera's orchestra played to an emptying dance floor.

Headquarters of the Amalgamated Hotel and Restaurant Workers' Union said the "stoppage" was precipitated by the discharge of Andre Fournigault, a cook.

Banking Group Amends Measure To Place Stabilization Funds in Hands of Board Instead of Treasury Secretary.

PRESIDENT UPHELD ON OTHER POINTS

Administration Undecided About Opposing 3-Year Time Limitation Voted by Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Determined to give President Roosevelt the unrestricted powers he requested in his monetary bill, administration leaders tonight said a major limitation imposed by a rebellious senate banking committee was unacceptable and began preparations for a routing fight for its elimination.

The committee wrote into the measure amendments creating a five-man board to administer the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund that would be established by the bill for the protection of the dollar's foreign value, and upon which the democratic leaders concentrated their fire.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic floor leader, said he did not see how a committee of five could function in a manner necessary to the quick decisions and unforeseen action successful operation of the fund when he would be needed.

Another change made by the committee placed a three-year limit upon the operation of the fund and upon the dollar. Considerable support appeared in the senate for this provision and Robinson said the question of leaving it in the bill or eliminating it was receiving study and he was "not prepared to say what is best to be done about it."

As sent to the senate by the administration, the bill provided that the secretary of the treasury should have sole authority to administer the fund and to conduct in any transaction a commercial transaction he might deem necessary to the purpose of stabilizing the dollar abroad.

Objecting that this empowered the treasury to do a general banking business, Senator Glass proposed the amendment to put the fund in the hands of a board of five consisting of the secretary of the treasury, the comptroller of the currency and two persons to be appointed by the president and approved by the senate.

In spite of the changes made, the committee upheld the president in recommending the bill.

4,000 Music-Lovers Pay Homage To Fritz Kreisler's Masterful Art

Atlanta paid homage to the masterful art of Fritz Kreisler, world-famed violinist, in a vast assemblage of more than 4,000 music lovers at his concert Tuesday night in the city auditorium, one of the features of the All-State Concert Series, under the management of Marvin McDonald and sponsored by the Atlanta Philharmonic Society. And that tremendous aggregation of concertgoers became a unified whole in their unbounded enthusiasm and appreciation for the artistic presentation of this masterly and musically mind, unfolding in terms of violinistic language the depths of the artist's nature.

Kreisler as an artist is unsurpassable. His technique and intonations are not always flawless, but there is a certain something about his playing that no one can touch. It is one of those intangible things that defies description. Perhaps it is his tone of unapproachable beauty. Perhaps it is his distinctive style, his artistry of infinite versatility, his power of expressing emotionally in tone the gamut of his feelings. Perhaps it is the perfection of his own personality, his own character, his own insight of life, in his playing that makes it a thing apart, finer, more uplifting. But whatever it is, this quality that defines Kreisler as a master of masters, his listeners are every conscious of its existence, and to hear a Kreisler concert is an experience never to be forgotten.

The opening number was the performance of the entire Grieg "Sonata in C minor, Opus 45," for violin and piano, with Kreisler's accompanist, Carl Lamson, joining artistic forces with him in a rendition that afforded perfect ensemble between the two instruments. The sonata is a work of ingratulating beauty, and in the hands of these two artists it became a structure of lovely proportions.

"Chaconne," by Bach, for violin alone, revealed in exquisite exaltation the unlimited capabilities of the master performer both as an interpreter and as a technician, both as a violinist and as a reciter. With its tremendous musical and technical demands, this gigantic composition became molded with deft skill in the hands of the artist.

The third group was contrasted in a most pleasing manner, opening with an exquisitely beautiful "Rondo" of Mozart, played with agility and truthfulness and clarity of intonation. Tchaikovsky's "Andante Cantabile" became a favorite for its tonal warmth, and Kreisler's own arrangement of the same composer's "Humoresque" won popular favor. His arrangement of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hymn to the Sun" displayed passages of violin harmonies of a rare order of perfection, more beautiful than this reviewer ever heard. Four caprices brought the program that seemed all too short to a brilliant close in a dazzling array of violin pyrotechnics.

Hardly before the last note of the printed program had resounded the audience in excited enthusiasm rushed down to the stage to beg for more and more, which was graciously given in "Londonderry Air," Kreisler's "Caprice Viennoise," and "Liebesfreud," also one of his own compositions.

"BURIED ALIVE" TITLE SOUGHT BY ATLANTAN

Unimpressed with the thrills of steeple-jacking, which included a couple of near-falls and a too-close contact with a 600-volt trolley wire, W. G. (Bill) Lewis, 21, of 283 Merritts avenue, N. W., will try out a new stunt beginning at 3:30 o'clock Saturday when he undertakes to break the world's record for remaining buried alive, Lewis announced.

Lewis will be "interred" at the Fair street arena in a coffin to be furnished by Harry G. Poole Jr., who will handle the "burial." He will be supplied with air and food through a tube, and his sole exercise will consist of turning over occasionally. A small admission will be charged those who desire to look down the tube and talk with Lewis. The record for such burials is 30 days, it was said.

Court Orders Child To Undergo Knife

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A court order will send four-year-old Raymond Velle to the operating table tomorrow despite refusal of his parents to consent to surgery because of their belief the child "must be healed by the power of God alone."

He is suffering from a leg infection resulting from a fall a month ago. Doctors said it would render him permanently crippled and perhaps result in death if the operation is not performed.

When the parents refused the offer of the city nurse to provide medical attention free, and declined to allow a physician to treat the boy, the case was brought into county court on charges against them of neglect.

Both the father, Lewis Velle, 38, and the mother, 25, insisted "we put our whole faith in the power of God," at the court hearing.

The court decided on the advice of physicians the operation was a necessity. The doctors he appointed said it would be performed tomorrow.

Lewis had been a full-time worker for a religious organization since last June.

RAMSPECK URGES HULL TO SPEAK AT EMORY U.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—At the request of Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta, the Georgia congressional group today joined in sending a letter to Secretary of State Cordell Hull urging him to accept an invitation to address the institute of citizenship sponsored by Emory University in Atlanta next month.

The state department head was told that any date meeting his convenience from February 10 to February 16 would be held open for him. Officials of Emory University had previously forwarded a formal invitation to Mr. Hull.

AFFAIR WITH CASON IS LAID TO WOMAN

and later returned to Cason's room, indicating a change of plans as to Mrs. Monroe's departure. She was shown to have gone to Cason's room the day before the shooting.

Jealousy Motive Hinted.

An attempt to establish a motive of jealousy was made by the state when it offered to introduce a letter purported to have been written by Cason and addressed to a woman in Columbus, Ga., and which the state expects to prove was found in Mrs. Monroe's luggage.

Charlie Stewart, investigator for the office of the solicitor-general, testified that in an interview with Mrs. Monroe she told him in relation to the letter that she had "played a trick on Cason," explaining that he had given her the letter to mail but that she had placed it in her bag. The letter as produced in court had been opened but had not been postmarked.

Defense attorneys also hailed for the time the introduction of a note which officers testified was found in Cason's room after the killing, addressed to "Daddy." The court ruled that neither document is admissible at this time.

Hotel Detective Testifies.

C. W. Rushing, house detective for the hotel, told of events following the shooting, relating that he found the door of Cason's room locked from the inside and with police officers had to force his way into the room, where he found Mrs. Monroe lying on the bed. Rushing said that Mrs. Monroe gave him the impression of being drunk and that she could not walk without assistance.

Mrs. Monroe's phrase, "It didn't work, did it?" which so far as the evidence has shown was her only coherent utterance immediately following the shooting, was put to another significance when Attorney Howard brought out under cross-examination that these words followed the wrestling away from the defendant of the gun she held in her hands when the officers entered the room. Officer Armstrong admitting that the gun "clicked" as he took it away from the woman.

Throughout the day Mrs. Monroe, seated beside her grim-visaged elderly husband, evinced a close interest in every statement made to the jury and from time to time made whispered comments to the gray-haired railroad engineer who did not leave her side during the day. The husband, M. C. Monroe, now lives in Augusta, Ga., to which point Mrs. Monroe was shown to have had a return ticket when Cason was slain.

Eugene Tiller is assisting Howard in the defense. The prosecution is being handled by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and Assistant Solicitor Ed Stephens.

U. S. Gets $10,000,000 First Month Rum Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The first month of legal liquor paid the government more than $10,000,000 in taxes.

Figures just compiled by the internal revenue bureau for December showed $8,551,000 collected on the production of distilled spirits, $1,257,000 on rectification, $1,039,000 on wines and cordials and $522,000 in permit taxes.

December beer collections were $12,567,000. The beer, together with liquor which became legal December 5, including a few small taxes incidental to the production of both, paid the government $24,428,000 in December as compared with $637,000 in December, 1932.

Liquor and beer revenues for the first half of the 1934 fiscal year were $98,414,000, as compared with $3,597,000 in the corresponding 1933 period.

Peanut Milling Pact Signed by Wallace

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A marketing agreement and license for the peanut milling industry, establishing a schedule of minimum prices to be paid to peanut growers, was approved and signed today by Secretary Wallace.

Both the agreement and license become effective at midnight, January 27.

The two documents are identical except for provisions in the license stipulating how it shall be applied.

The license was proposed and requested by millers as a means of enforcing minimum prices, and other provisions intended to increase returns to peanut growers.

A control board of 10 members will be established to provide enforcement of the license and to make recommendations on methods for controlling marketing and production.

Streamlined Taxicabs Banned as Peekaboo

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(UP)—Taxicabs which are streamlined in such a manner that occupants cannot be seen from the street are not to be permitted on New York streets, the police department decided today.

Deputy Commissioner Harold L. Allen ruled that cabs, proposed for operation by the Allied Products Company, were of the "peekaboo" type and lend themselves "to the commission of crime, and would be a menace to public safety and morals on the street."

MAIL FILIBUSTER ADMITTED BY REED

Spoke to Delay Senate Vote Until Brown Could Sign Contract.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—How Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, spoke against time on the senate floor in an effort to permit the postoffice department to award an ocean mail contract to a line without a ship was described today to the senate committee investigating air and ocean mail contracts.

A. J. Ball, general foreign freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, described Reed's filibuster, which was made only a few days before the Hoover administration left office.

The Pennsylvania was one of three railroads interested in the Philadelphia Mail Steamship Company, said to have been slated by former Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown to receive the contract for a route between Chesapeake bay cities, Philadelphia and northern Europe.

A resolution was introduced in the senate to block the award pending investigation. Reed took the floor and held it until the bids were opened.

The contract, however, was never awarded. Ball said the shipping board refused the company permission to buy two vessels from the United States Line.

Reed, in Philadelphia today, admitted he had filibustered, but said he was motivated by a desire to advance the interests of the Port of Philadelphia.

At shipping board hearings preceding the filibuster, several persons interested in the Philadelphia line said that they would have little chance to get the contract for a line operating out of a normally republican city once the democrats came into power.

Ball's testimony preceded an attempt by Chairman Black, democrat, Alabama, to draw from W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, information indicating a connection between the Pennsylvania and the Hudson & Manhattan railroad, of whose board Brown is now chairman.

An audience that filled all the chairs in the committee room and stood along the walls heard Atterbury describe his line's interest in steamship routes and rail affiliates, but deny any corporate relation with the Hudson & Manhattan.

Atterbury denied he knew anything about Brown's joining the Hudson & Manhattan until it had happened. He added:

"And I said to myself, how fortunate that was—he couldn't have made a better selection."

POLITICAL LEADERS GUESTS AT FEAST GIVEN BY PLUNKET

A group of distinguished political and civic leaders who have eaten enough barbecue here and there during their careers to pass expert judgment, voted a number of assorted laurels to Andy Plunket Tuesday night on the occasion of a feast at the Atlanta Elks' Club at which Plunket entertained Judge Max Land and a number of his friends.

Judge Land and Mr. Plunket, who were schoolmates at Jackson, Ga., many years ago, met recently after a long period of separation. The dinner of barbecued turkey was Mr. Plunket's tribute to their reunion.

Wiley L. Moore, the newly-elected president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies. Other guests were J. O. Perry Jr., exalted ruler of Atlanta Elks; Clay-

Breaking Ice Splits Byrd Antarctic Party

ADMIRAL BYRDS' FLAGSHIP, RAY OF WHALES, Antarctica, Jan. 23.—(Via Mackay Radio).—(AP)—Members of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition were forcibly separated today when the flagship was driven from her berth along the low shelf of crumpling ice by a strong southeast wind.

Twenty men were marooned ashore, three in the old winter camp at Little America, and the rest distributed among empty supply caches four and one-half miles south of the edge of the bay ice and the unloading station at its edge.

The vessel at noon was cruising slowly within the high barrier walls of the bay, waiting for the weather to moderate. The wind already had commenced to die down and it was likely a mooring could be effected shortly.

The work of the expedition went on regardless of separation. From midnight on, one could make out from the ship, with the help of a glass, men towing supplies on the bay ice, men carrying loads of sledges to a transfer depot a mile and a half to the southeast. Two tractors were ferrying the stuff to the emergency cache three miles further on.

During the last four days the runners of the sledges and the broad treads of the tractors had worn a broad highway across the smooth plain of the bay ice.

MacDonald Attacks Stabilization Delay

LEEDS, England, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald expressed impatience in a speech to-night with the failure of nations to stabilize currencies.

He declared that stabilization is one of the first necessary measures to build up the "machinery of a co-operative world" and maintained the British government is watching for a chance to resume the world economic conference as soon as possible.

Byrns Is Re-elected To Congress Party Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(P)—At a reorganization meeting tonight, the democratic congressional committee unanimously re-elected Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, as chairman for the third consecutive time.

Byrns was not present at the meeting, but it was announced that he would accept. The Tennesseean is a democratic floor leader in the house and a veteran of a quarter of a century of service in that branch.

To relieve Byrns of detailed duties, the committee elected Representative McClellin, of Oklahoma, as first vice chairman, and Representative Crowe, of Indiana, as second vice chairman. McClellin ranks next to Byrns in point of service on the committee.

Charles Hayden, Washington newspaperman, was elected secretary. The committee also elected finance, speaking and campaign committees.

FULTON BOARD PLACE SOUGHT BY McALLEY

Resident of West End for 25 Years; Is Surety Company Manager.

William L. McCalley Jr., southeastern manager of the National Surety Company, Tuesday announced his candidacy for the Fulton county commission.

mission from the county at large, subject to the democratic primary on March 7.

Mr. McCalley, who resides at 1546 Westwood avenue, S. W., has been a resident of West End for the last 25 years. During the World War he was a member of the selective service exemption board for the seventh and tenth wards. He is a former member of the board of education.

Mr. McCalley's statement follows: "I hereby announce my candidacy for county commissioner from the county at large, subject to the primary of March 7, 1934.

"I am not affiliated with, nor do I represent any special interests. If the citizens of Fulton county have sufficient confidence in my integrity, honesty and ability to elect me to fill one of the two vacancies, I will take office free of any entanglements and pledges, other than to render an accounting of my stewardship to all citizens in every section of the county.

"I stand for an economical, safe and sane administration, using my influence to conduct the affairs of the county within the annual income, thereby avoiding as far as possible incurring indebtedness, necessitating the borrowing of funds increasing the cost by way of interest.

"The Georgia Association of County Commissioners is now committed to a program of economy and efficiency, the adoption of a budgetary control system in the conduct of county administration as related to their office.

"I advocate the adoption of a budget after careful consideration and study of the needs of the various departments and then the responsibility to live within the allotment will rest on the heads of the various departments.

"I will work to secure the passage of legislation to provide for the levy of lump sum number of mills based on the budget, in lieu of the present law that authorizes a levy by units for several purposes now included in a tax levy. This system, if adopted, would result in a more intelligent tax levy, a better knowledge of needs and eventually result in lower taxes. It would widen the range of administrative activities by having at one's fingertips all needed information to supply intelligent and accurate information to the departments of federal government, state, grand juries, individual taxpayers, civic bodies, etc. In this manner immediate information as to the cost of county government by departments by items could be obtained; leaks plugged, economies enforced, and service improved. This system would place the responsibility where it belongs and would relieve the commissioners of unjust criticism.

"I am heartily in favor of the program of economy and efficiency as adopted by the association. Space will not permit discussion at this time other important features, but views and opinions will be rendered later.

"A copy of the budget when adopted should be placed in the hands of the various department heads, and each of the daily papers for publication, if they so elect. Publicity is a tremendous force and will eventually bring about the desired results. Then, and then only, can the taxpayers become informed as to the income and expenditure of the county government.

We must come to the realization that the affairs of our county government are of vital importance and to function properly requires one of long training in an executive capacity.

"The county is one of the largest going businesses in Georgia. The taxpayers are the stockholders; the commissioners are the executives selected by them to maintain and carry on the business. I have had 20 years' successful experience in an executive capacity and feel I am well qualified to render excellent service to the taxpayers of Fulton county."

French May Ignore Hitler's Arms Note

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(P)—French leaders consider the chances of a disarmament agreement with Germany so slim, it was learned authoritatively tonight, that they may not even reply to Chancellor Hitler's questions regarding the French arms plans.

Paris apparently looked to Great Britain, meanwhile, to take the next step in the stalemate. In high French quarters it was said the German communication indicates such "profound differences" between the two policies that France may not attempt further to bridge the gap.

REPORT IS SUBMITTED ON MART REGULATION

Communications Network Study Also Is Taken to Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(P)—Formulate for federal regulations of stock exchanges and of the vast network of communications were presented to President Roosevelt today by a special administration committee.

Mr. Roosevelt kept them for overnight study before sending them to congress. Secretary Roper, who carried the reports to the White House, said they made no recommendations.

Administration favor for some form of establishment of monopolies in the telephone, telegraph and radio fields under strict government regulation has been indicated.

This report will go to the interstate commerce committee of the senate and house which are considering this complicated subject.

While the reports were not made public it is understood that the principal method of federal regulation would be through taxation, the post-office laws and the authority under the interstate commerce provision of the constitution.

The report on communications sets forth the possibilities of:

1. Continuation of existing conditions;
2. Monopolies under government regulation;
3. Government ownership.

There is reason to believe that the second proposition which would unify the telephone lines into one system, the telegraph into another and radio into another under government supervision was favored by the special committee.

'Fugitive Lovers' Headed This Way; Prizes Offered for Their Capture

"All cars stand by. All cars stand by. Wanted. Young couple . . . Fleeing . . . Fugitives . . . Hold."

Thus the alarm spread throughout Atlanta Tuesday night as information was received that the "Fugitive Lovers," seeking escape in the crowds of the city, were headed this way. Law-abiding citizens will be called on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to head off their flight.

Are you a good detective? This will be your chance to prove your ability as an embryonic Sherlock Holmes and win a substantial reward.

The Fugitive Lovers are young.

They are very much in love, but they are wanted. In fact, they are wanted so badly that The Constitution, aiding the enforcement of justice, is calling upon its readers to join in the search and is offering a cash reward to the reader locating the couple.

You will have three chances. If you miss the quarry on Thursday, you may try again on Friday and Saturday. All that is necessary is to recognize the couple, walk up to the man and tap him with a copy of that morning's Constitution and inform him that they are caught.

The winner each day will be presented by the man of the couple with an order for $10, which will be cashed by the cashier of The Constitution. Full details of the search for the Fugitive Lovers will be printed in The Constitution, and by attending Loew's Grand theater beginning Friday you may learn how another pair of Fugitive Lovers fared at the hands of a mammoth police drag net. The Constitution on Thursday morning will give a description of the couple.

BAKERS ADOPT CODE AT ATLANTA MEETING

Bakers of the south meeting at the Ansley hotel Monday adopted a proposed code which will go to Washington for a final hearing on January 30. L. M. Collins, of Atlanta, was chairman. He and C. M. McMillan, secretary of the Southern Bakery Association, will attend the final code meeting in Washington.

The code, which included a maximum week of 44 hours, with the exception of retail bakers, who will be allowed an additional six hours, a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for productive workers, elimination of destructive price-cutting and elimination of discounts, rebates, advertising allowances, prizes, premiums, free goods loans to customers and sandwich selling by wholesalers was endorsed unanimously with the single exception of the code's prohibition of consignment selling.

and their probable whereabouts for that day.

The unusual motion picture, "Fugitive Lovers," stars Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans, who are shown fleeing from the law.

50 COUPLES BEGIN MARATHON GRIND

Fifty couples plodded around the floor stage in the Walkathon auditorium at Lakewood Park all Tuesday night as they began the first lap of the endurance race toward the $1,000 grand prize, which will reward the couple with the stoutest calves.

The south's first walkathon, unique endurance contest, got under way promptly at 9 o'clock with Mike Benton, president of the Southeastern Fair Association, firing the starting gun, and Red Skelton, "clown prince of America," acting as master of ceremonies for the grand march and introduction of contestants.

A large crowd greeted the premiere walkathon, staged here by W. E. Tebbets, of Camden, N. J., president of the National Walkathon Amusement Company, Inc., which has staged 27 other successful Walkathons in leading cities of the nation.

The crowd greeted with laughter the antics of Red Skelton, who performed from handstand to basement unusual stunts of acrobatics, clowning and fun-making.

Ira Coffey's Walkathonsians, negro band, opened with rhythmic rendition, of popular dance tunes, and gained early favor with the crowd.

The contestants, most of them Atlantans in their first contest of the kind, appeared in fine spirits as the grand march went officially into the contest.

Before the night was over, several couples appeared visibly tired, but none gave signs of intention to drop out.

A physician and nurses, who examined all applicants and eliminated those considered physically unfit, were on hand to give additional examinations at the end of the first period.

The first radio broadcast from the bandstand, with Red Skelton announcing, went on the air over WGST at 10 o'clock. Daily periods, 15 minutes each, will be broadcast at 12:45, 6 and 10 o'clock. The hall will be open 24 hours daily until the end of the contest, with special surprise entertainment programs presented at varying hours during the day and night.

FLORIDA PROTESTS GEORGIA RATE CUT

Hearings on Intrastate Slash To Proceed Despite Complaint.

Hearings on still further reduction of Georgia intrastate freight rates will proceed without regard to a complaint from Jacksonville that the tariffs already in effect give Georgia points an undue advantage over the Florida city. Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the Georgia public service commission, said Tuesday.

The Jacksonville traffic bureau asked the interstate commerce commission to require that rates within Georgia be kept as high as the charges for comparable distances between Jacksonville and Georgia points. The petition alleged that if the schedule proposed by the public service commission were put into effect the interstate rates to Jacksonville would be about 40 per cent higher.

At the offices of the Georgia commission no official would permit definitely what would be done in connection with the I. C. C. case, but no doubt was expressed that the commission would intervene in it.

Governor Talmadge, a strong advocate of downward revision of utility rates in general, said there was "no doubt this action before the interstate commerce commission was railroad-inspired," and added:

"The railroads are very foolish if they try to maintain exorbitant freight rates, especially when there is another mode of transportation available."

Mark W. Thomas, of Savannah, assistant general freight agent for the Central of Georgia, occupied the stand throughout Tuesday's session of the intrastate rate hearing, discussing tariffs on canned goods, clay, coal, peaches and watermelons, and starting on cotton piece goods. Georgia shippers have an advantage over interstate shippers on many commodities, Thomas said, citing canned goods as an example.

The COOK'S NOOK

GOOD SANDWICH IS WELCOMED FOR OCCASIONS

By RUTH CHAMBERS.

Sandwiches take many forms, from the hasty, between-meal bites consisting of a slice of meat between two slices of bread to the elaborate grilled or open-face spread, which is in itself a hearty meal, and to the dainty, fancy-cut affairs of the bridge-table and including the tasty sandwiches which are taken on picnics or form the basis of the school children's box lunches.

A good sandwich presents a well-balanced food in well-balanced form, with the starch of the bread, the protein in the various fillings and the vitamins supplied by lettuce, relish or other ingredients which may be used.

Since sandwiches are used on so many varied occasions, one can never have too many suggestions for spreads or for ways of using them. Here's a toasted ham sandwich which is suitable for Sunday night supper and which, with a beverage, is a complete meal.

Toasted Ham Sandwich.
Chop 1-2 cup mustard pickle with 1-2 cups finely chopped ham and mix well. Spread 6 slices of bread with butter and 6 slices with the ham mixture. Lay the buttered slices over the others. Add 1-4 cup milk to one beaten egg; season with a little pepper. Dip each sandwich lightly into the egg mixture and place on a buttered pan. Toast on each side until a golden brown.

Bacon and Peanut Butter spreads.
An appetizing sandwich spread is made by frying bacon until it is quite crisp, then mincing it and mixing well with peanut butter. Spread this on a slice of bread and lay over it slices of tomato and then another piece of bread. The tomatoes should be peeled.

Corned Beef Sandwiches.
Corned beef and mustard sandwiches are especially good when made with rye bread. Grind the corned beef to make 1-2 cup. Add the teaspoon chopped sweet pickle and prepared mustard to taste. Spread between buttered white or rye bread.

Open-Face Sandwiches.
Open-face sandwiches look very festive and fit in well for party menus, to serve after the bridge game, for instance. Make several kinds of them, including one or two sweet sandwiches to take the place of cake or cookies.

Bread for these sandwiches is better if it is 24 hours old. Your utensils should include a set of fancy sandwich cutters, a sharp knife to cut the bread, a silver knife for spreading and bowls to hold the various fillings.

Here are some recipes:
Liver Sausage.—Mash the sausage; spread on triangles of buttered bread. The edge may be sprinkled with a border of egg yolk which has been put through a sieve. Or you may decorate some of them with a border of chopped sweet pickle.

Minced Ham.—Moisten the ham with mayonnaise, spread rounds or oblongs of buttered bread with the ham mixture; garnish with finely minced green pepper, finely chopped hard-boiled egg white or chopped pickle.

Ham and Cucumber Salad.—Mix minced ham and mayonnaise; cut rounds of whole wheat or graham bread about two inches in diameter. Spread each with the ham mixture and place a cucumber slice in the center of each. (These sandwiches should be served soon after making so that the cucumbers keep their crispness.)

For the sweet sandwiches, marmalade or raspberry jam may be used with a border of cream cheese softened with a little cream.

For picnic sandwiches, beef loaf forms a tasty and satisfying spread.

Beef Loaf.
2 pounds ground beef; 3-4 cup bread crumbs; 2 eggs; 1 1-2 teaspoons salt; 1-8 teaspoon pepper; 1 tablespoon chopped onion; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper; 1-2 cup milk. Mix ground beef and bread crumbs. Add beaten eggs, salt, pepper, onion and green pepper. Moisten with milk and mix well. Bake in a buttered pan for one hour in a slow oven. When "cold," slice thin. Put between thin slices of buttered bread. Spread a little chili sauce on the meat.

"Remember, BANANAS are both fruit and vegetable," says

Miss RUTH CHAMBERS of the Atlanta Constitution Cooking School

"They're grand when yellow with green tip. This is exactly the right stage of partial ripeness for cooking as a vegetable—baked, broiled or sautéed especially with meats.

"They're great when yellow ripe, particularly for salads and desserts. This is the stage of all-round usefulness. For while readily digestible for eating as fruit, they are still firm enough for cooking.

"They're marvelous when fully ripe—yellow flecked with brown, delicious to peel and eat—to slice and serve with milk or cream, or combine with your favorite cereal."

A FAMILY TREAT—BANANA FRITTERS

Peel 6 bananas and cut in halves, first lengthwise, then crosswise. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons lemon juice and powdered sugar. Dip in fritter batter made as follows: Mix and sift together 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt. Combine ¾ cup milk with 1 well-beaten egg, then add to dry mixture, beating constantly. The batter should be thick enough to coat the fruit entirely. If too thick, add more liquid; if too thin, add more flour. Fry in deep hot fat (395° F.) until brown. Turn frequently while cooking.

For extra pep and energy—BANANAS
New research also proclaims them an excellent protective food—rich in five of the six vitamins (A, B, C, E and G) and a good source of important minerals. And their alkaline reaction makes bananas helpful in warding off acidity.

Deeper inquiry into charges of misconduct in office against Federal Judge Halstead L. Ritter, of the southern district of Florida, was said by Chairman Sumners of the house judiciary committee Tuesday to await an additional appropriation from congress.

The judiciary committee was asked $2,500 in addition to a similar amount originally authorized to finance the investigation.

Charges against Ritter involve alleged mismanagement of receiverships and excessive fees in favor of his former law partner.

TAX ASSESSMENT REVISED
FOR MIAMI BEACH BANK

A 1930 income tax claim of $5,191 was assessed against the Miami Beach (Fla.) First National Bank Tuesday in a stipulation judgment filed by the board of tax appeals. The board discharged a claim against the Miami Beach Corporation, its subsidiary.

CAPITOL BAN ORDERED ON STARLING HORDES

Somewhat bitter and discouraged over past failures, federal authorities Tuesday nevertheless issued a new ultimatum to the Starlings, which said in effect—quit roosting at the capitol or take the consequences. But before anything really drastic is done, Capitol guards probably will try their elaborate buzzer system a bit further. It consists of a series of devices which at regular intervals emit a noise that sounds like an automobile horn with a cold.

HOPKINS SEEKS PURCHASE OF FLORIDA ORANGES

Purchase of 3,000,000 bushels of Florida oranges by the relief administration was proposed Tuesday to Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, by C. D. Treadway, chairman of relief in Florida.

NORRIS TO URGE REGISTER FOR CAPITOL LOBBYISTS

Considerable skepticism prevailed in the rank and file of congress Tuesday over the outcome of the current reform movement, but there was no halt in the progress toward legislation to separate politics and government.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, told newspapermen he was seriously considering a proposal to require registration of all lobbyists, with a statement of what each is working for, the contracts with each client, and the pay he is receiving.

UNLISTED PHONE NO HELP TO CWA ADMINISTRATOR

Harry L. Hopkins, who runs the civil works and federal emergency relief administration for President Roosevelt, couldn't sleep at night because his telephone number was in the book.

Soon after the civil works program started he had the number changed and left unlisted. But some people have a knack for learning unlisted telephone numbers.

Hopkins' number was changed again. But still they discovered it. Now it is changed every seven days.

Early Advances Asked
For Cotton Cut Cash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, today urged the farm administration to make payments to cotton farmers in the acreage reduction campaign in March and again in June or July, saying such a plan would enable "practically every grower in Texas to plant his next crop without borrowing a dime."

The Texas said the administration promised to make every effort to carry out the program along the lines suggested.

Meanwhile, after a three-hour inspection of AAA personnel at work, Patman emerged with high praise for the cotton section. He wrote more than 1,000 cotton committeemen in his district, bespeaking their continued co-operation and telling them Texas probably would get around $30,000,000 in rental payment under the acreage reduction plan.

ATLANTA, GA., JAN. 24, 1934.

FARM BONDS GUARANTEED.

The senate has concurred in the house bill providing for the guarantee by the government of the principal of the farm loan bonds, with unimportant amendments not affecting the principle of the measure.

After all the bonds had back of them the moral, if not the legal, guarantee of the government. If the loans they represented were negotiated on a sound basis, the bonds should be worth a hundred cents on the dollar. If the loans were not made on a businesslike basis, then the government itself is to blame.

Congress should take similar action with reference to the bonds of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. With these bonds, as with the farm loan bonds, the government guarantees the interest but not the principal.

The fact that the government guarantee is not back of the farm and home loan bonds has seriously affected the market value of these bonds, and has caused mortgage-holders to hesitate to exchange their mortgages for them.

Either these bonds are good or they are not. If good, both the interest and the principal should be guaranteed. If they were not safely protected, then the government should not have guaranteed the interest.

As a matter of fact, the bonds of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation are accepted by the federal reserve system, or any of its member banks, as collateral for loans, and are backed by real estate in every instance of greater value, on the present market, than the amount of the bonds issued.

The value of the bonds is further strengthened by the fact that as the loans are amortized the security behind them gets stronger every year.

Despite the undoubted value of the bonds, the failure of the government to guarantee the principal as well as the interest, forced their price down to a range between 80 and 85 cents, where they stayed until it became known that President Roosevelt would recommend the guarantee of the principal. The price immediately rose to its present position well above 90, and will unquestionably go to par upon action by congress such as has been taken with reference to the farm loan bonds.

THE ROOSEVELT BALLS.
Plans already perfected by the local committee in charge of the arrangements for Atlanta's participation in the program of national-wide balls to be held on President Roosevelt's birthday assure large attendance to the three dances which have been arranged for next Tuesday night.

The proceeds from these balls, which will be staged with a minimum expense, will go to the creation of a fund for the Warm Springs Foundation. Under the regulations laid down by the national committee in charge of the balls, not less than $1 of every ticket sold—the prices of the tickets varying in different localities from $1.50, as in Atlanta, to the $10 figure set in New York and other large cities.

The tremendous sum which will probably be raised is indicated by the fact that arrangements are now being completed for the holding of more than 6,000 balls throughout the country.

In Atlanta there will be dances at the Shrine mosque, the Standard Club and at Peachtree Gardens, arrangements having already been completed for large orchestras and elaborate floor shows at each of these three places.

The heads of all the local fraternal organizations, the Atlanta Woman's Club and the Junior League are actively co-operating in the preparations for these dances and in the sale of tickets.

If these balls are as largely attended throughout the country as every evidence indicates they will be, the resulting fund will make possible the development of Warm Springs into one of the largest health spas in the country.

To this end, Atlanta should turn out in force to the balls next Tuesday night.

ALABAMA SCHOOLS TO CLOSE.
Announcement that practically all of the Alabama rural schools and many in the cities, included in the latter being those of Montgomery, the capital of the state, will be forced to close on February 1 because of lack of funds, should come as a warning to the leaders of educational matters in this state.

Georgia's schools as a whole are in much better condition now than they have been in many years, although they are far from being out of debt. The fact remains, however, that there does not exist the threat of wholesale closing that has existed previously at this time of the year—and no stone should be left unturned in every school district in the state to arrange that every school be kept open for its full term.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

War in the Spring?

M. Andre Dubosq, ex-diplomat, distinguished writer, has made an investigation of the far eastern situation by visiting Manchuria and China and Japan. There is not the slightest danger, he writes in "Les Annales," that Russia will attack, but throughout the far east there is a fear that the Japanese will attack before Russia is completely armed and unassailable.

Against this sombre prognosis M. Dubosq sees a point of light. "In spite of the very bellicose spirit reigning in high quarters in Japan," he says, "there is also a fear that an armed campaign against the soviet might not turn out so successfully as some would imagine. In the first place the soviet are not helpless and a hostile action on the part of Japan would surely be followed by an immediate bombardment of the great Japanese centers of population by the powerful and bombing squadrons lying ready in Vladivostok and vicinity, and in the second place the interior situation in Japan is so precarious that a revolution may burst out any minute. The fact is that the soviet is one of hopeless destruction."

Another point is that a war between Russia and Japan would have wide repercussions in China. There is a question, he says, whether Manchuria and the Koreans are looking for a chance to deal Japan a blow in the back. For these reasons and for others, M. Dubosq believes that there is no danger of a war next spring.

'Souvenir' Thieves.
A railway detective engaged in a case involving the prosecution of a youth for stealing a towel from a train at Euston, England, stated in court that 25,000 towels have been stolen from the M. S. trains in the past month; and that the thefts of cups, spoons, window straps, and glasses mean a loss to British railway companies of thousands of pounds a year. Most of the depredations of the "souvenir" collectors on trains occur, it would seem, in the summer holiday season. The hotels and restaurants suffer most at Christmas time when glasses, jugs, ashtrays, cutlery and linen, to the tune of hundreds of pounds, disappear in the course of some people's idea of a festive season.

"The extraordinary thing about this infraction," a hotel-keeper announced last winter, "is that it is more prevalent in the well-to-do than the poor. Numbers of them seem to pick up and take away almost anything they can lay hands on." Poorer people have perhaps a livelier apprehension of the penalties justly attached to petty larceny. "I have seen people in certain hotels in London," said an official of the Licensed Victuallers' National Defence League, "slip a towel into their pockets not cautiously but in the spirit of fun."

One can only hope that now and then, to complete the joke, some of them slip down a fork when they go home by bus or taxi.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

COLDS AND INFLUENZA.

I quote the title from our leading medical journal. The large black letters are bound to catch the eye of the busy physician as he runs over the pages of his medical journal to see if there's anything new in doctoring. If the weather is bad he may even stop to see what about colds and influenza.

By god there is a lot about the subject. "To help build resistance to winter ailments," the announcement goes on, in slightly smaller type, "utilize the strengthening qualities, the ready assimilability and the convenience of . . ."

Never mind the name of the nostrum. Suffice to say it purports to contain certain elements of milk and certain elements of cereals. In fact it is made from a mixture of elements from these two common foods.

With a good stretch of the imagination and a liberal allowance for facetiousness one might say all that of a dish of cracked wheat and a glass of milk. But wheat and milk do cost money and they are sold as good only what they are worth as food and there is no mystery about them, so the chances are people would laugh at you for a quack if you did seriously urge wheat and milk to help build resistance to winter ailments. And oddly enough the farmers who raise wheat and the dairymen who raise milk would be the first to laugh at such a suggestion. They always are. It must be the climate.

No physician or scientist can explain what resistance to winter ailments means or consists of. No one can define "resistance" as distinguished from the positive state which science recognizes as immunity. But such minor considerations do not deter the credulous doctor from prescribing the most extravagant nostrums; he has the feeling that because these exquisitely packaged foods and medicines are "accepted" by the government, something or other in the national medical organization, that takes the course off from the habit of prescribing the nostrums.

The cheap hallyhoo to the dumb doctors goes on to mention that the special process of making the stuff from milk and cereals is "high degree" some of the vitamins present in their natural state, that is, fresh and undecayed or unrefined, in short foods eaten as they grow and not manufactured things, provide all the vitamins, mineral elements, nourishment, health and strength the body needs.

News Behind the News

JUDGMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Roosevelt was sitting at the White House luncheon table the other day talking with a friend.

During the conversation the friend remarked: "I think one of the secrets about good judgment is never to make a decision when you are tired."

The president perked up immediately and asked that the statement be repeated.

"Never make a decision when you are tired."

SWIMMING

Obviously the president was marking that suggestion down in his mind among the items in his personal design for living. He has plenty of similar items filed away. Most of them relate to health.

In recent weeks he has decided to swim in his private pool every day at 6 p. m. No matter whether the senate is fuming, the French defaulting or the heavens falling, Mr. Roosevelt drops whatever he is doing and swims at 6 p. m.

Coupled with a rub-down from a masseur in the morning, this is his only exercise.

RELAXATION

No president has ever worked out his routine of private life more meticulously than Mr. Roosevelt. His main motive is to relieve himself from the man-killing pressure of the job. He takes things as easy as he can. He has staid times for everything, including relaxation.

There is no question but that our presidents have made many historic decisions when they were fatigued or rushed. If they let the job get them, they are tired all the time.

Mr. Roosevelt's ideas on that subject are well illustrated by the fact that he went off on a yachting cruise in the midst of the London economic conference and that he is even now planning a cruise halfway around the world for the coming spring.

HORNING IN

There are strong indications that a certain monetary adviser at Mr. Roosevelt's last money conference in the White House will not be there at the next.

At least, the president has been informed by one of his New York friends that this certain adviser has cleaned up in Wall Street speculations during the last six months and can hardly be considered a suitable confidant on such a subject as silver, for instance.

The adviser is not connected with any of the normal Wall Street agencies and has no standing, except as a personal speculator.

THE ROOSEVELT

Two highly successful businessmen were gossiping the other night about Roosevelt. Like everyone else, they could not exactly make him out. That is, they could not classify him as a radical or a conservative, or place him in any specific category, politically or economically. Finally one of them said:

"I believe that if you will look back in the Roosevelt heritage you will find that all the men in that family were land owners. Did you ever hear of a Roosevelt who did not pay his debts? Did you ever hear of one who was a fly-by-night? A shyster? I did not."

"I think that you will find, without exception, that they are the kind who generally pull their chairs up to the fire at home in the evenings. I'm banking on that."

CUBA

The state department clique likes Mendieta, the new Cuban president. They had withheld recognition a few days to see what kind of a cabinet he got.

If the truth were known, it is not improbable that our ambassador, Caffery, has been taking a hand in the selections. Caffery has covered up his activities better than his predecessor, Sumner Welles.

The choice of Mendieta was highly pleasing to Welles. His original plan contemplated making Mendieta provisional president for two years.

CWA Despite all that is being said and done, the insiders do not believe the president is going to stop the CWA expenditures any time soon. They believe that the move recently made by the White House was a trial balloon sent up to learn how the wind is blowing.

Fundamentally everyone seems to realize that this mode of relief cannot be depended upon as long as there are any considerable number of men who need jobs.

NOTES

An attorney recently appeared at the state department as a lobbyist for the Grau government of Cuba (before it fell). Our officials believed it was the first time a foreign government ever employed an official lobbyist, although many of them employ such agents under cover.

The official diplomatic grapevine has brought unofficial information to our highest officials that Premier Dollfus, of Austria, has a secret anti-Nazi understanding with Mussolini. The understanding is supposed to promise Italian military aid if Hitler tries to engineer a Nazi coup in Austria.

Internal Revenue Figures Give Hint at Immense Tax Rates for Future Years.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The most important piece of news coming out of the government for some time is buried in the table of figures just issued by the bureau of internal revenue.

It tells the story of money and inflation and the future value of the dollar more comprehensively than all the debate now going on in congress about monetary and fiscal policies. It brings out some interesting points as to the way Uncle Sam is going to be compelled to "crack down" on everybody from top to bottom to collect money to run the government.

War-time tax rates will be considered relatively insignificant compared to the tax rates that are coming, if the figures just disclosed are accepted as a basis for an entirely new tax program. If they are not, then the revenue can only come from the printing press, and everybody in the administration denies any intent to turn out printing press money.

The first revelation is that the people with incomes of $5,000 or less in 1932 had a net income of $42,000,000, which totaled well over $7,000,000,000 but they paid only $42,000,000 in taxes. The so-called rich, namely, all people with incomes of $5,000 a year or over, had a net income of about $4,000,000,000 but paid the government $280,000,000.

The tax collected from both groups was about $324,000,000, which is just about one-twentieth part of the deficit predicted by the president for this fiscal year.

Another way to look at it is to take the incomes of all persons over $10,000 a year running up to the highest brackets and the total is only $2,356,000,000, which, if confiscated in entirety, would not yield one-third of the forthcoming $7,000,000,000 deficit.

Hence the government has to look to the incomes below $10,000 a year. Examination of the figures shows that in the classes between $5,000 a year and $10,000 a year there is only $1,600,000,000 of net income, but there is at least $7,000,000,000 in the class of $5,000 a year and under.

The reason the amount of tax on seven billions of income is so small is because there is an exemption, for instance, nowadays for all incomes of $1,000 a year or less. The government has never really taxed the people with incomes below a thousand dollars. The cost of collection has hitherto been regarded as prohibitive. Also there is no evidence as to how many people in these low income groups are not even filing returns.

Out of a total of 120,000,000 people, only 1,864,969 paid the federal government any taxes in 1932. This was a decrease of nearly 400,000 from the preceding year. Secretary Morgenthau is talking about a house-to-house canvass to collect back taxes, but it looks as if that will be expensive unless the government imposes taxes on many more people in the low income groups.

Naturally there will be higher rates of taxes for the people above $5,000 a year, and as for those of $50,000 a year and so on they will be "soaked," too. But the chances are slim of getting much money in these higher incomes even if 100 per cent of income is collected as a tax, which, of course, is out of the question, as the courts would not permit a tax to be confiscatory.

With 98 per cent of the American people paying no incomes taxes at all into the federal treasury, the size of the federal deficits or surpluses heretofore has been a matter of indifference. Now, however, when the treasury needs money it will have to spread out its tax collecting machinery and many millions of persons will feel the pinch of taxation for the first time. This may or may not influence the spenders in the national capital, but on the success the federal government will have in increasing revenues from income taxes will depend to no small extent whether the rest of the world will consider the American dollar properly valued at 50 cents or whether it will expect further depreciation.

For obviously a government that keeps running deficits cannot promise to pay back its borrowed money. It is not a productive tax system. The alternative may be, of course, the virtual abandonment of any idea of getting much more than at present from income taxes, even with higher rates, but a concentration on some form of sales or turn-over tax.

American business did not fare so well, however, in 1932. Only 79,000 firms or corporations had a net income on which taxes could be collected. Nearly 350,000 companies showed net losses in fact, the combined deficit was about six and a half billion dollars. The government collected only $277,000,000 from the corporations that did have a profit. But the entire net income of the group was about $1,800,000,000, which, if completely confiscated, would not have paid 30 per cent of this year's deficit in the federal government.

All these figures are for 1932 and there is no telling what 1933 will look like until March returns are received. But any idea that the government can merely dig deeper into the pockets of the rich and balance its budget is not borne out by the official figures. Even if losses and deductions and other offsetting items are taken into consideration, the picture is not altered in any material respect. The painful truth is that American business did not make any money, relatively speaking, in 1932 or 1933, and individuals suffered correspondingly.

All official estimates for the next year or so are based on the expectation of a 10 per cent revival in business income, but even this is relatively small to affect a budget which is to be unbalanced by seven billions this year and by two billions the year after.

Unless a new and better revenue system is provided either for direct taxes or indirect sales taxes, or both, the chances of keeping up the present rate of expenditure without starting the printing presses going are becoming more and more remote every day.

Governments raise money either by taxes or by loans. The sources of the former are inadequate and if the "brain trust" with its idea of abolishing or repressing profits has its way, the sources of tax money will continue to dry up. So the alternatives are economy, or printing paper money. The figures just published may have a significant bearing on the choice of a federal fiscal policy.

COBB ASKS FARMERS

TO NAME LOAN AGENTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section of the farm administration, today urged cotton farmers who wished to farm and pledged their benefit payments under cotton reduction contracts to designate a trustee to handle their payments.

"We are informed that many cotton producers will take advantage of the feature of the 1934-35 contract permitting them to pledge rental payments to be made by the government to obtain funds with which to pay current operating expenses of their farms," he said.

He said the contract provided for naming a trustee, who would receive the rental payment. Producers may then give to the person designated as trustee, who would be authorized to make payment from funds obtained by producers in rental benefit.

Under the terms of the contract rental payments may be pledged only for farm operating expenses. They are not subject to garnishment or attachment.

SINCLAIR IS SUED IN TRUST COLLAPSE
TULSA, Okla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Harry P. Sinclair, oil magnate, and 57 other former directors of the Exchange Trust Company, 20 of whom were accused in criminal charges filed last week, were made defendants in a civil action today to recover $325,870 allegedly taken from trust estates and invested in participation certificates.

W. J. Barnett, state bank commissioner, was plaintiff in the suit, filed in district court.

Bold Buzzard's Soaring Flights Near 5 Points Puzzle Atlantans

A bold buzzard has been frequenting the vicinity of Decatur and Ivy streets for two days, arousing the curiosity of various merchants and occupants of office buildings who are beginning to be the least bit disturbed by the regularity of the big bird's soaring flights.

Droopy and despondent, the big, red-eyed bird flapped on to the sill of a window on the thirteenth floor of the Hurt building Monday and attracted the attention of the office occupants. He failed attempts to catch him by flying over to another building where a group of young men working in the penthouse atop it were equally unsuccessful. He finally found refuge on an old structure facing Decatur street.

"Tommy," a cafe au lait waiter of Little Harlem, said that the buzzard had been around for about a week. "Yesterday he brought up another one," declared Tommy. "We climbed on the roof this morning, 'cause we thought he might be somebody dead up there, but so far we ain't found 'em." Tommy shuffled his feet. "If there's a reward I sho will watch where he sleeps tonight."

Rumor put the buzzard's roost somewhere under the Courtland street bridge, but according to good authority these birds prefer high trees. So if you see one on your way home tonight, don't pass it up as an hallucination—well, whatever it was you had too much of. The old bird might be real.

RECOGNITION PROMPTS CELEBRATION IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—(UP)—United States official recognition of the government of President Carlos Menéndez was formally presented at the department of state in Havana at 4 p. m. today.

Casery was at the state department only 15 minutes, departing at 4:15 p. m.

Sharply at 4:30 p. m. the U. S. S. Womack, a cruiser in port here, raised the Cuban flag and fired a 21-gun salute of recognition. The Cabanas fortress across the bay replied immediately.

Sailors and soldiers patrolling the waterfront on the Cabana rampart and in front of the old Castillo De La Fuerza jubilantly joined in the celebration, firing rifles and revolvers into the air.

Thousands of citizens, unaware of the impending gun salute dashed to the waterfront to join the hilarity. Auto horns were tooted incessantly, joining the whistles of hundreds of ferries, steamboats and factory whistles, setting up a terrific din.

Casery in a brief ceremony presented the note of recognition from Washington to Cosmo De La Torriente, secretary of state in the Menéndez administration, set up here last week, ending months of uncertainty and swiftly changing political affairs in the island republic.

The text of Washington's Cuban recognition message follows:

"I have the honor to inform your excellency that I have been instructed by the secretary of state of my government, under authorization of the president of the United States of America, to extend to the government of Cuba on behalf of the United States a formal and cordial recognition.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to extend to your excellency assurance of my highest consideration. (Signed) 'H. FREEMAN MATTHEWS.'"

The populace throughout Havana joined in a series of impromptu celebrations in elation at the restoration of normal relations between the United States and Cuba, held up since the fall of the government of Dr. Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, in the 'revolt of the sergeants' last September.

CHATTANOOGA SHERIFF DEMANDS JURY TRIAL

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Denying accusations of official misconduct, Sheriff John K. Tate has filed answer to an order bill and demanded a jury trial.

Removal proceedings were instituted by District Attorney General John J. Lively following Sheriff Tate's recent conviction on a charge of failing to safely keep liquor entrusted to his care.

HEAVY OVERSUBSCRIPTION IS SEEN BY WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A heavy oversubscription for the $1,000,000 in United States treasury obligations offered by Secretary Morgenthau was forecast in leading Wall Street banking circles.

The terms of the new treasury securities, offered as the first step in the $10,000,000,000 recovery financing program, were regarded as attractive to banks and investment institutions. The $500,000,000 issue of 2 1/2 per cent treasury notes maturing March 15, 1935, was smaller than the one-year issue of last December 15, and the interest rate was more attractive.

The December 15 issue bore a rate of 2 1/4 per cent, and $992,000,000 of that issue was allotted.

The second part of the new $1,000,000,000 financing, consisting of $500,000,000 in 1 1/2 per cent certificates maturing in six months, or on September 15, was considered attractive in view of the short-term money market, where four to six-month funds have been commanding 1 to 1 1/2 per cent.

The fact that the treasury offered new certificates at the upper level of this range of interest rates was interpreted as indicating that no effort was being made to force the securities. It was understood that careful inquiries had been made by the treasury as to what leading investment opinion was on the subject before the terms of the financing were determined.

Shorter maturities. The new securities are of somewhat shorter maturities than some quarters in the financial district had anticipated, and some bankers suggested that this might be due to the fact that the treasury hopes, once dollar devaluation and stabilization has been accomplished, that credit will become so plentiful that big refunding operations at attractive rates of interest may be feasible.

It was recalled that the big British refunding operation was accomplished within less than a year after the pound was depreciated, and soon after the British equalization fund began to operate, holding the currency comparatively steady. Also in France, after devaluation and stabilization of the franc, the investment market improved sharply.

Art of Meat-Cutting Demonstrated by Expert

Paul A. Goesser, of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago, here is shown demonstrating the cutting and preparation of meat before 300 Atlanta meat retailers at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Tuesday night. Mr. Goesser was introduced by E. S. Papp, of the White Provision Company. The meat cutting demonstration was a part of The Constitution-National Live Stock and Meat Board Cooking School now being held at the Capitol theater. Miss Ruth Chambers, in charge of the school, also spoke briefly about the cooking of meat.

Roosevelt Fights for Bill; U. S. to Offer Billion in Paper

small discounts. Well over a billion in this paper is outstanding. The first step in its financing program was announced by the treasury as the federal deficit for the fiscal year to date ended at $1,727,617,000. By June 30 President Roosevelt expects this to grow to $7,309,000,000 and increase the public debt to $23,847,000,000.

Tax receipts for the fiscal year totaled $1,628,718,000 on January 20. Budget figures estimate revenue receipts from all sources on June 30—end of the fiscal year—at $9,259,938,000.

The notes and certificate issues announced today will pay interest on a semi-annual basis. As usual the federal reserve banks were designated to join with the treasury to receive subscriptions which are now open.

"Tax Exempt." "The treasury notes and the treasury certificate of indebtedness will be exempt," Morgenthau said. "Both to principal and to interest, from all taxation (except estate or inheritance taxes) now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any state or territory, or the possessions of the United States or by any local taxing authority."

"Applications will be received at the federal reserve banks and branches and at the treasury department, Washington. Banking institutions generally will handle applications for subscribers but only the federal reserve banks and the treasury department are authorized to act as official agencies."

"Applications, unless made by an incorporated bank or trust company or by a responsible recognized dealer in government securities, must be accompanied by payment in full or by payment of 10 per cent of the amount of notes or certificates applied for."

"Subscriptions for amounts up to and including $10,000 will be allotted in full; all other subscriptions will be allotted on an equal percentage basis."

$100 to $100,000. The treasury notes will be issued in bearer form and denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. They will have three interest coupons attached payable March 15, September 15 and March 15, 1935.

The certificates will be issued also in bearer form, and in the same denominations except that they will begin at $500. Two interest coupons will be attached, one payable March 15 and the other September 15.

The senate banking committee today approved without change a report on the dollar devaluation bill giving the measure more latitude in the issuance of government securities and intended to simplify the refunding maturing securities and borrowing.

The amendment would make it possible to purchase any type of government security with any other type without an offering to the general public and would authorize the issuance of $2,500,000,000 additional treasury notes.

The deep-seated opposition to the bill as submitted was apparently satisfied to the extent of most of the opponents voting to report the measure to the senate, expressly reserving at the same time, however, the right to offer any amendments on the floor that they may think fit.

On the 15-to-2 vote to report the bill, the two against were Goldsborough and Townsend, both republicans. Senator Gore was present but did not vote. Carey and Couzens were absent.

More Clear Weather Forecast for Atlanta

A continuation of fair weather today, but considerably cooler, was forecast Tuesday by the weather bureau. The temperature today is expected to range between 34 and 56, with a possibility of frost unless the wind interferes.

Tuesday was clear with a temperature range of 50 to 58. A forecast during Monday afternoon from Washington indicated light rains for Tuesday, but the rain area cleared and this prediction was revised in favor of clearing conditions.

The map was clear Tuesday in the west and southwest, with a prospect of immediate rain or decided change in weather conditions.

It was recalled that the big British refunding operation was accomplished within less than a year after the pound was depreciated, and soon after the British equalization fund began to operate, holding the currency comparatively steady. Also in France, after devaluation and stabilization of the franc, the investment market improved sharply.

RUTH DEAN IS ORDERED TO TRIAL NEXT MONDAY

GREENWOOD, Miss., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean today was ordered to stand trial next Monday, January 29, for the alleged murder of Dr. John Preston Kennedy after she lost a two-day court fight to inspect hospital records involving the strange death last summer of her former medical associate.

Circuit Judge S. F. Davis, after a final hearing in court today, refused to permit attorneys for Dr. Dean to make a pre-trial examination of the records of the Baptist hospital at Jackson, Miss., where Dr. Kennedy died August 5.

Objection of the defense to the court or the state making inquiries as to who actually compiled the records was cited by the court as its reason for denying the defense petition.

The petition, in addition to seeking permission to inspect the records, contained a general denial by the defendant to the charges that she gave Dr. Kennedy a whisky highball containing poison or had done anything which would have caused his death.

JESSE W. BATES DEAD AT DOUGLASSVILLE, GA.

Jesse W. Bates, formerly of Atlanta and for many years connected with the J. K. Orr Shoe Company, died Tuesday at his country place at Douglassville, where he had lived for the last year. Ill health caused Mr. Bates to retire from business about a year ago.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Kelly, who resided with Mr. and Mrs. Bates at Douglassville, and Mrs. Frank H. E. Hane, of Los Angeles, Cal., and two sisters, Mrs. Phyllis Kemp, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Mattie B. Fowle, of Atlanta.

The body of Mr. Bates will be brought to Atlanta for funeral services and interment. Henry G. Poole will announce arrangements.

Meeting in executive session, the committee first of all defeated Mr. McAdoo's "franchise tax" idea 11 to 9, with three democrats, Glass, Gore, of Oklahoma, and McAdoo, voting for the amendment, and two republicans, Couzens, of Michigan, and Norbeck, of South Dakota, the latter voting by proxy, opposing the change.

The amendment to create the stabilization board carried, 12 to 8, with Glass, Bulkley, Gore, McAdoo, Adams, democrats, and Goldsborough, Townsend, Walcott, Carey, Couzens, Steiwer and Kean, republicans, voting for it. Those voting against were Wagner, Barclay, Coddington, Reynolds, Byrnes, Bankhead and Fletcher, democrats, and Norbeck, republican.

Report to President. At the request of Chairman Fletcher, the committee struck from the bill a requirement that a report be made to congress on the operation of the stabilization fund. The report is to be made to the president only. Fletcher later explained that congress could by special action obtain a report on expenditures from the fund at any time.

The deep-seated opposition to the bill as submitted was apparently satisfied to the extent of most of the opponents voting to report the measure to the senate, expressly reserving at the same time, however, the right to offer any amendments on the floor that they may think fit.

On the 15-to-2 vote to report the bill, the two against were Goldsborough and Townsend, both republicans. Senator Gore was present but did not vote. Carey and Couzens were absent.

PULITZER IS OPPOSED FOR PRESS CODE POST

Newspaper Guild of New York Asks Resignation of Ex-Publisher.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Newspaper Guild of New York announced today it had sent a formal letter of protest to President Roosevelt and General Hugh S. Johnson against Ralph Pulitzer's appointment as deputy NRA administrator in charge of the newspaper code. The guild also made public a letter to Pulitzer asking him to resign.

The letter to Pulitzer quoted a resolution adopted by the guild's assembly, saying in part that "we see nothing in Ralph Pulitzer's record as publisher of the one-time New York World to justify a belief that he will have the employees' interests fairly at heart" and that "on the contrary, his record in the closing-out of the New York World leaves him in no position to restrain even the most ruthless activities of any publisher in dealing with employees."

In accepting the appointment, Pulitzer asked General Johnson to make public the letter Pulitzer had written him setting forth his connections with the newspaper business. The guild's letter said "the objections you raised in your letter to General Johnson to your appointment seem to the 1,100 members of the Newspaper Guild of New York to be valid despite General Johnson's denures."

The resolution protesting the appointment called upon guilds in other cities to take similar action. Pulitzer is in Washington.

JURY ACQUITS NEGRO WHO HIT WHITE MAN

Carl Johnson, negro, Tuesday was acquitted in Fulton superior court of a charge of assault with intent to murder J. T. Copeland, a white man, at the Atlanta Elbow Company on Marietta street. Johnson, who was charged with striking Copeland with an iron pipe, pleaded self-defense. He was defended by Attorney Reuben Garland.

MAN FREED ON CHARGE OF "DRUNKEN DRIVING"

Tried for the second time on a charge of driving while intoxicated, C. E. Matthews, former member of East Point city council, won a verdict of acquittal by a jury in city criminal court Tuesday. At a trial last week the jury was unable to agree and the court ordered a mistrial.

Matthews charged a motive of political vengeance on the part of witnesses testifying against him, and swore that he had not been drinking at the time of the accident out of which the charges grew.

Dr. Wynekoop Shows Marked Improvement

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, whose plea of sickness yesterday caused a mistrial to be declared in the murder proceedings against her, today said she felt "better." She arose early and breakfasted immediately on rolls and coffee.

Warden David Money, of the county jail, said he believed Dr. Wynekoop was in better physical condition today than at any time during her stay in the jail.

Matrons reported she slept from 11 p. m. until 6:30 a. m., awakening only twice during that time. She reported herself as "feeling better" than she had at any time since she was arrested nearly two months ago for the slaying of her daughter-in-law, Rheta.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION EXPERT RUTH CHAMBERS will continue her demonstrations AT CAPITOL THEATER AT 9:00 A. M. TODAY ALSO TOMORROW AND FRIDAY AT 9:00 A. M.

RUTH CHAMBERS ATLANTA CONSTITUTION HOME-MAKING EXPERT says: "I NEVER miss an opportunity to demonstrate Rinsol in my home-making classes. I let women see, with their own eyes, how Rinsol's lively suds soak out dirt—save scrubbing—save the wear and tear on clothes. I let them see how white things come 4 or 5 shades whiter—how colors come bright and fresh as new—from a Rinsol soaking. I explain how Rinsol saves their health and strength—saves their hands, too. I urge them to use no soap but Rinsol for the wash, for dishes, for all cleaning."

NATIONAL LIVE STOCK & MEAT BOARD SCHOOLS

Come and see clothes washed 4 or 5 shades whiter—the "scrubless" Rinsol way. You'll want to use Rinsol for all cleaning—when you see its lively suds. Cup for cup, Rinsol gives twice as much suds as puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. Marvelous in washers, too; makers of 40 famous washers recommend it.

Fanchon and Marco Stage Shows At Rialto Starting on Saturday

With definite announcement of the stage unit and its personnel which Fanchon and Marco have sent to launch the new policy, the Rialto theater, through Manager W. T. Murray, Tuesday promised one of the most entertaining programs ever offered there, starting next Saturday.

Fanchon and Marco have gone to exceptional trouble and expense to get some of the best acts on their roster here for the opening of the stage and picture policy at the Rialto. With an enlarged stage and all possible equipment recently installed they expect to present their shows to unusual advantage in the intimate confines of this downtown theater. Theater men have always known that a stage show is doubly effective if presented in a theater, where all the seats are close enough to the stage to make every member of the audience feel close personal contact with the performers.

Some years ago, when the big, elaborate theater was the vogue, this intimacy was lost and knowing producers attributed the decline in stage show popularity largely to this fact. Now they are returning to the smaller houses and have already discovered that the flesh-and-blood attraction is the finest of box office lures if the audience likes.

There will be 12 of the famous Fanchon and Marco line girls in the Rialto show, girls chosen for their expert dancing and youthful beauty. Among the featured performers will be Consuelo Gonzales, the "Mexican Melody Mite," in character songs; Silver, Burns and Bernice, variety dancers, gymnasts and sensational balance artists; Rodney and Gould, eccentric dancing and comedy pantomimists and other artists.

The screen feature with the next stage program will be Columbia's delightful romance, "Once to Every Woman," with Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray, Walter Connolly, etc.

Special prices, remarkable for the low scale, will be inaugurated for

"Bombay Mail" Starts Run at Georgia Today

Excellent acting, a fascinating background, characters who are much alive, and a plot filled with suspense, all play an important part in the new production, "Bombay Mail," which opens a three-day run at the Georgia theater today. With Edmund Lowe in the starring role, added units on the program include an Andy Clyde comedy, "An Old Gypsy Custom," a special novelty "Conquest of the Air" and a new issue of news.

"Bombay Mail" written by L. G. Blockman, who is well versed on life in teeming and mysterious India, has to do with a fast express train racing from Calcutta to Bombay, and the people on that train. These include a much disliked and feared British colonial governor, a maharajah, an American miner with a fortune in rubies, an aide to the governor who fears the loss of his position, a scientist with a live cobra in a suitcase, a supposed Russian spy who is quite beautiful, the governor's wife, and an Eurasian crook, to mention only a few.

The governor is murdered. Inspector Dyke is called in on the case and is just at the point of solving the mystery when the maharajah is shot in the back. Before the train reaches Bombay he not only has captured the killer, but has been of much service to other characters aboard the express.

Of importance in the cast, in addition to Edmund Lowe, are Onslow Stevens, Shirley Grey, John Davidson, Ralph Forbes, John Wray and Tom Moore.

Roosevelt Studies Home Modernization

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today devoted an afternoon to conferences on means of stimulating modernization of homes and of assuring increased protection to consumers from excessive price-raising.

With his recovery council he considered the establishment of a separate agency under the national recovery administration to deal with complaints against price raising. Attorney-General Cummings participated in the council meeting, but it was said no immediate moves to prosecute those who charge excessive prices are in prospect.

The president received from John H. Fabry, chairman of the home loan board, preliminary plans for making more money available for modernization of homes.

Treasury, budget and home loan board officials also met with the president, at which it was shown that a considerable demand existed for money to rehabilitate homes.

3 SUSPECTS HELD IN ROBBERY SERIES

Brewery Officials Fail To Identify Trio, But Probe Continues.

Undaunted by the failure of recent holdup victims to identify two men and a woman who were arrested Tuesday morning during investigation of the robbery of the Atlanta Ice & Brewing Co., detectives Tuesday night held the suspects in the police station pending further investigation and planned additional exhibitions of the suspects in the "lineup."

Those held are Bill Lynn, 27, and his wife, Tommy Lynn, 22, who were taken into custody in a Ryder street apartment, and Edward Veal, 20, who called at the apartment after the Lynns were arrested. Detectives said that two pistols and more than $500 in cash were found in the Lynn apartment, and that they took another pistol and more than $200 from Veal's room in a local hotel.

The brewery was held up Monday afternoon and robbed of $1,300 by two men who entered the cashier's office. All-night investigation by detectives led them to the Lynn apartment two blocks from the brewery, it was said.

After the Lynn couple had been removed to police headquarters, Detective H. Jones remained in the apartment and received a telephone call. Answering the telephone, he asked the caller to come over, and appeared, police said.

Detectives Tuesday failed to have the three suspects identified by witnesses in the brewing company, Truitt-Bottling Company, Rialto theater and Southern Feed Store hold-ups, it was said.

Grafters Hunted.

While the administration was planning for the closing months of the civil works administration, it also was concerned with another and more serious matter—ferreting out graft within the organization.

Investigators for the interior department were pushing inquiries into a dozen cases about the country after having run down scores of other allegations. Also included in the hunt was the department of justice.

The investigators for the civil works administration said today they had investigated a great many complaints which led them to mere disgruntled politicians on both sides of the political fence—instances of the wrong political faith, according to the views of the complainants.

In other instances, the charges were of a more serious nature, the investigators said, and they were proceeding with studies in such widely scattered parts of the country as California, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana.

One instance was asked this afternoon to grant Raymond W. Torras, engineer-secretary of the city planning commission, a 30-day leave of absence to accept an appointment from Harry Ickes, federal public works administrator, as engineer in charge of a survey of this district on city planning. It is expected that the council will grant the leave by unanimous vote, and Torras was accepting the congressional leave of his friends of the recognition of his ability in that field.

His new title will be field supervisor of the national planning board, and he will work directly under Henry T. McIntosh, regional advisor of PWA. He will travel the states of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

Text of White's statement regarding the matter follows:

"At a meeting last night I advised the council members that, for humanitarian reasons, the government will prolong his permit if Insull's recent illness becomes aggravated.

Such a prolongation, it was apparent, would be merely a temporary matter and would not solve the question of where the 74-year-old fugitive from justice would go from Greece.

about $100,000 in order to obviate the necessity of a 3 per cent salary cut for all non-school employees.

The police committee plans to ask city recorders to impose fines on small violators of liquor laws to enrich city coffers, instead of binding them over to state courts.

"This is a fine proposal, and should be placed into effect at the earliest possible moment," Barrest asserted.

"The police committee is to be commended for its efforts along this line. We can increase school funds by $30,000; divert $25,000 to removing the 2 per cent cut in salaries of employees making $100 or less a month, and utilize the remaining $57,000 to reduce the salary slashes in the higher brackets. I feel confident that the budget commission, the mayor and the entire council would co-operate in this matter."

Torras Offered PWA Job.

The Greek government held firm to its decision that Insull must leave the country. His permit to remain expires January 31. But the ministry of the interior stated that, for humanitarian reasons, the government will prolong his permit if Insull's recent illness becomes aggravated.

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Judgment was reserved today by the Ontario appellate court in the fight of Martin J. Insull to escape return to Chicago for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny.

More Protection for Consumer, Small Business Object of Move.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—New rules to expedite the handling of complaints under NRA and to try to assure a square deal for consumers and small business units were promulgated today by the recovery administration.

The question of protecting the consuming public from excessive price increases was discussed by President Roosevelt today with his recovery council.

A manual for adjustment of complaints was issued by NRA for the guidance of the newly-appointed state directors and for the more than 200 code authorities ruling industries. At the same time plans were under way for a merger of the two government units, the one attached to the NRA with that of the farm administration, for the purpose of setting up consumer councils throughout the country.

The new complaint-handling rules provide three different avenues to insure official review of charges and to expedite action upon them. The manual declares that even where a code authority or other industrial agency has been authorized to handle complaints, the party making them can insist on an independent NRA review either in Washington or by the state director.

If the complaint goes to officials and charges the code authority with being hostile or monopolistically dominated, the case will not be referred to the code authority.

Whenever a code authority fails to satisfy a complainant he has full right to demand a personal hearing before it, and failing satisfaction to take the case up with NRA.

The new rules were required to meet the change being made in the country-wide compliance organization, now being transferred to agencies under the national emergency set-up.

ILLNESS TO GIVE INSULL RESPIRE FROM EXPULSION

ATLANTA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Only illness did Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities czar, have hope today of refuge from the United States law.

The Greek government held firm to its decision that Insull must leave the country. His permit to remain expires January 31. But the ministry of the interior stated that, for humanitarian reasons, the government will prolong his permit if Insull's recent illness becomes aggravated.

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Judgment was reserved today by the Ontario appellate court in the fight of Martin J. Insull to escape return to Chicago for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny.

Officials Discover Bremer Not Threatened With Death

Ransom Note from Kidnappers Contained Only a Warning, Magee Tells Abduction Probers.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Officials' fear over the fate of Edward G. Bremer, held by kidnapers nearly a week, was allayed tonight by revelation that he had not been threatened with death.

As the time when close friends said release of the captive banker for whom $200,000 ransom has been demanded drew near—their predictions were he would be freed within 24 hours—sources believed reliable disclosed the original kidnap note contained only a warning, not a threat.

"You better pay off first and let them (meaning the police) do their detecting later. You better not cross us," was the version they gave of contents of the note which was found by Walter Magee, wealthy friend of the Bremer family, shortly after the 37-year-old bank head was seized last Wednesday.

Magee previously had said the gang had threatened young Bremer with death if police were called in or the newspapers informed.

Order for Ransom.

It was also disclosed today that the ransom was ordered placed in two large cardboard boxes, tied with heavy cord, the money to be in $5 and $10 bills. The note was signed by Bremer in a second note, shortly after the designated Magee as intermediary.

Reports continued throughout the day that contact had been made by the family with the kidnapers through a second note conveyed Monday to Adolph Bremer, father of the missing man. It was reportedly signed in a firm hand by the victim.

While the family maintained it had received no word from the gang since the seizure, its members seemingly assumed a hopeful attitude.

City police, who had abided by Adolph Bremer's request that the law remain aloof until his eldest son was released, admittedly were at sea. Federal department of justice investigators were non-committal.

"We have heard nothing," said Adolph Bremer, principal owner of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Company, when asked about the ransom note reported to have been delivered to Dr. H. T. Nippert in a milk bottle buried through his window Saturday.

Deny Receipt of Notes.

Bremer denied any notes were received, as did Dr. Nippert, the family's physician. He admitted, however, a bottle had been thrown through the door class.

Yet one report persisted that a contact had been made with the gang through a second note received yesterday morning by Adolph Bremer. Last night a heavy police guard was placed at the Bremer home. The family, for the last three days, has had in readiness the $200,000 with which to ransom the missing banker, whose blood-stained automobile was found shortly after his abduction.

Then, too, a Schmidt Brewery truck was reported to have made an unexpected trip early today from the Bremer home to an undisclosed destination. This could not be verified.

Magee declared he "didn't know a thing," and insisted no contact had been made.

As rumors which could not be checked were bandied about, Adolph Jr., said his father, who has been ill for two years, was "pretty bad" from the strain he has been under.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Lieutenant John P. Donlin, 21, San Francisco, pilot attached to the ninety-fifth pursuit squadron at March field, was killed today in the wreck of his light combat plane six miles east of Riverside.

Railway Mail Auxiliary Celebrates Silver Anniversary at Banquet

An enjoyable and interesting social event, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Railway Mail Auxiliary, in Atlanta, was held at Sterchi's tea room on Saturday evening, January 20. A delicious turkey dinner, prepared under the direction of Mrs. B. F. Denning and her committee, was served to 90 guests who assembled to do honor to the seven charter members, who are active after 25 years of loyalty and service.

The banquet table, under the arrangement of Mrs. John Honey and her committee, was exquisitely appointed, having as its centerpiece a silver bowl filled with yellow and white spring flowers, graced on either side by a silver candelabra holding yellow tapers. The birthday cake, baked and presented by one of the past presidents, Mrs. A. R. Young, who lacked only one month in being a charter member, was a thing of beauty with its yellow and white decorations and 25 burning candles. After an entertaining wishing contest, in which the candles were blown out, the cake was divided among the seven charter members.

The program chairman, Mrs. Eldo Adams, and her committee planned an enjoyable program, the first speaker being the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. J. B. King. The charter members were introduced as follows: Mesdames H. R. Gill, W. B. Ellington, W. A. Moreland, J. W. Acker, J. L. Culver, W. G. Travis and John Hogan. A contest followed, in which original verses describing some of the characteristics of the charter members were given and readily recognized by the audience. Mrs. H. R. Gill gave an interesting history of the auxiliary. Mrs. W. B. Ellington gave an intriguing prophecy of the charter members. Several pleasing members followed, the last being a reading of the more serious nature, "Say Something Good," rendered in an impressive manner by Mrs. E. B. Goodwin. The program was concluded by the audience standing and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Dolly Dalrymple Praises Mr. Naegele

The Sunday edition of the Birmingham News, in the section devoted to news of society and women's affairs, carries an interesting column written each week by Dolly Dalrymple and entitled "Dolly's Dialogues." The author, in real life, is Mrs. Orleans Shipman, who is well known in Atlanta and is ranked among the most gifted and brilliant of the south's newspaper women.

Her column last Sunday carried the following interesting comment on the distinguished artist, Charles Frederick Naegele, whom this city claims as an Atlanta:

"News of the distinguished artist, Charles Frederick Naegele, is always welcome, for few people have more friends and admirers in Birmingham than this charming gentleman, whose portraits adorn the homes of prominent citizens here.

"Mr. Naegele is one of the most widely known and greatly admired artists in America today. His studio and home at Marietta, Ga., has been the scene of visits from celebrities from all over the world, royalty from Europe and men and women of prestige and distinction in this country, who have 'sat' for their portraits under his master hand.

"Among the most beautiful of his portraits here are those of Mrs. Alfred M. Shook, Mrs. Robert Y. Brooke, Mrs. J. L. Drennen and Mrs. Sydney B. Bow, his wives, in these particularly showing his great art and peculiar gift of 'likenesses' in his work."

Baptist Woman's Missionary Union Meets in Atlanta on Feb. 1 and 2

Twenty-five years of progress will mark the silver anniversary of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union, when it convenes in annual session at the Druid Hills Baptist church on February 1 and 2. "Praise Ye the Lord" will be the convention theme during the two-day session. Mrs. L. O. Freeman, superintendent of the Atlanta B. W. M. U., will preside at the meetings. With unusual ability in localizing a business and missionary program Mrs. Freeman has assisted the program committee in arranging the galaxy of talent to be presented.

Members of the executive board will give reports on their work during the Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. The secretary's reports show that during the past few years the organization has endeavored to reach the proportions of a state convention in attendance. Last year there were more than 1,000 present at the B. W. M. U. association meeting. Activities of the eight district secretaries have culminated in annual reports equal to the average association. W. M. U. report over the state importance of the executive ability devolving upon the secretaries is not to be minimized, and much of the progress of the B. W. M. U. is due to their faithfulness.

Efficiency in the departments of W. M. U. work has been ably demonstrated in the selection of state and national speakers brought to Atlanta in the training of local leaders in the extension of welfare work, state conference entered and work among the young people enlarged. The Baptists of Atlanta are to be congratulated in the selection of Miss Vera Atkins as leader of the Young Woman's Auxiliary to the B. W. M. U. She has served two years, and the activities of the organization are unexcelled in the territory of the Southern Baptist convention. Under the leadership of Miss Atkins the Y. W. A. volunteer band composed of consecrated young women has held evangelistic services all over the Atlanta association adding many new converts to the cause of Christ.

Mrs. Freeman and other members of the executive board have been in demand as devotional leaders, guest speakers, reviewers of books, teachers in normals and training institutes, advisors in hospital and church conferences, directors in child welfare groups, organizers of all W. M. U. activities, which has developed a technique of organization and business acumen usually lacking in religious workers. Each board member seems to have entered her work with the joyous zestfulness reminiscent of pioneer days when the Atlanta association was organized 25 years ago. Seldom is there seen in local organizations the power of leadership that Mrs. Freeman exhibits in molding together the various departments of work into a co-ordinated whole.

Druid Hills Baptist church, always the center of missionary undertakings, will extend welcome through its W. M. U. president, Mrs. W. R. Grandberry, to the Atlanta B. W. M. U. visiting missionaries, the special guests, Mrs. Carter Wright, of Alabama; Mrs. Ben Thompson, president of the Georgia B. W. M. U.; Mrs. A. F. McMahon and Miss Mary Christian, state secretaries; Mrs. J. H. Zachry, vice president of the north central division, and to the pastors of the Atlanta association, Mrs. Freeman, the superintendent, states that not all the glory of accomplishment to have entered her work with the joyous zestfulness reminiscent of pioneer days when the Atlanta association was organized 25 years ago. Seldom is there seen in local organizations the power of leadership that Mrs. Freeman exhibits in molding together the various departments of work into a co-ordinated whole.

Washington Seminary Students Sponsor Philanthropic Projects

Charitable enterprises which they are sponsoring are occupying first place in the minds of the students at Washington Seminary with the beginning of the second semester this week. The entire student body is co-operating in the support of Miss Elizabeth Thomas, who is making a splendid record as a member of the senior class at Young Harris College. For a number of years the seminary students have given this girl her support, clothes and tuition, and she has made excellent marks in school.

The sophomore class, of which Miss Anne Brumby is president, is furnishing lunches for two undernourished children, and the seniors, under Miss Margarette Roddey, president, are providing clothing for a girl of their own age. The members of the sixth and seventh grades are raising a fund to supply milk to a needy baby, and in addition the students are doing work through the Family Welfare Association.

With the opening of the new term, a number of new students have enrolled at the seminary who have recently moved to Atlanta. Miss Lillian Willett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Willett, recently came to Atlanta to live, and Miss Hope Gatins, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Benjamin K. Gatins, of New York city, and Rumson, N. J., is spending the spring at the Georgian Terrace hotel with her parents. Miss Anna Louise Hawk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hawk, of Oakland, Cal., is spending the winter and spring as the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bird, at their home on Valley road. Misses Helen and Grace Moore, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Moore, are Atlantans who are former seminary students and have returned to school.

Among interesting activities of the near future are the doll show which will be sponsored at an early date by members of the fourth and fifth grades, and the senior play to be given in March under the direction of Miss Ruth Draper, Rev. John Moore Walker, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, recently spoke to the student body in the chapel as the guest of the Bible classes. Mr. Walker chose as his theme the fact that a life well lived is more wonderful than anything else in the world. Coached by Mrs. Mary Ligon, the seminary basketball team is having a most successful season. Recently the team played North Fulton school, winning by a score of 44-9; and Decatur High school, winning by a score of 73-13.

Schmeling Signs for Return Fight With Baer on Coast

BREAK O' DAY!

"I Want To Very, Very Badly But Can't Forget Old Kunnel Bradley"

It was Derby Day at the Downs—that magical, mystic day when the horses run in the greatest of all turf tests.

There was tenseness in the press box as the fifth race was run.

A little brown filly came tearing around into the stretch leaving her rivals far behind. She finished pulled up and was still near the track record.

A few commented profanely on the fact that she could pick them up and lay them down—fast. Very fast.

But that was all. The Derby field was next and there was a rush to get off new leads, a rush to the betting booths and a general cleaning up. The first five races were just races. The sixth was the Derby.

Today the little brown filly is the winter-book favorite as the 1934 Kentucky Derby winner. She isn't even nominated as yet. But will be, of course.

Tom Kearney, most famous of all bookmakers, is out with his winter odds from his St. Louis headquarters. His prices are on the most likely starters even though they are not as yet nominated.

Mata Hari, the Dixiana Farm filly, is quoted at 15, 8 and 4 against her. When Top Flight failed to start in 1932, to the great distress of the future book wagers, it was thought that never again would a filly be registered as the Derby favorite.

Kunnel Bradley's filly, Bazaar, is rated in second place, along with Singing Wood and Cavalcade, at odds of 20, 10 and 5 against.

The Kunnel will be trying for his fifth Derby victory this year. And I, for one, would hesitate to wager against him. When Brokers' Tip came home ahead of Head Play last spring, with both jockeys fighting, the Kunnel scored his fourth, and most unexpected, Derby victory.

KIN TO HERSELF.

Mata Hari, beginning that day at the Downs, won five starts. She won $55,364 and is now in training at the Dixiana Farm at Lexington.

Her breeding is interesting. From the turf families in the publication, "The Blood Horse," one finds that the brown filly is closely inbred, which accounts for her extreme nervousness, her temperament and her speed.

Mata Hari, strange as it seems, is kin to herself. She is by Peter Hastings out of War Woman. (Hold on. This gets complicated.) Peter Hastings is by Peter Pan and out of Nettie Hastings. Nettie Hastings is by Hastings out of Princess Nettie.

And now we drop down to the maternal side of it.

War Woman is by Man O' War and out of Topaz.

Man O' War is by Fair Play out of Mahubah. And Fair Play was sired by Hastings.

And so the blood of Hastings appears in her family line on both the paternal and maternal side of the breeding chart. She's her own first cousin or something like that. I never was very good at these family trees.

Mata Hari belongs to the same turf "family" as does Bazaar, the Bradley filly.

Mata Hari, some six months ago, was nominated herein as the future-book Derby winner based simply on that one day's sight of her as she came spinning around the turn and into the stretch. A filly has won but once. But Mata Hari may make it twice.

Nothing like Derby Day and the day of a big, heavyweight fight for action and punch. And pop-eyed hunches.

THE MAGIC OF BRADLEY.

No bookmaker will make you any juicy odds that the Bradley, the master of Idle Hour, does not nominate the Derby winner.

When Broker's Tip came home first last May the bookmakers took an oath they would never put the Kunnel's horses, no matter what their record, out of the running.

There was a drunk in the Brown hotel lobby on Derby eve. He had thought up this little bit of doggerel. And he liked it. He kept saying it over and over again.

"I want to very, very badly,
But I can't forget old Kunnel Bradley."

When Broker's Tip finished it was my cue to rush to the track room where the jockeys came and interview Don Meade, who had been up on the winner.

There was at the door an aged and venerable dorky, born and reared at the track, who was shouting, "The Kunnel has done it again. The Kunnel has done it again."

The jockeys for the seventh race were coming downstairs and being weighed out with their equipment. And finally Don Meade came down in his silks. The strain of the neck-and-neck finish and the desperate fight he had waged with Jockey Herb Fisher on Head Play was telling on him.

He had little to say. He was glad he had won for Bradley. And he said, succinctly, "Fisher tried to do it to me. I did it to him."

And then he went upstairs and there was a scuffle and shouts as he and Fisher clashed.

Meade rode well all year, following a 30-day suspension, and will probably have the Bradley entry when Derby Day comes around again and Bradley tries for his fifth Derby cup.

And just try and get a good bet Bradley won't win.

GENE LUTZ AND TROUBLE.

At the training camp of the late W. L. Stribling, before the Schmeling fight at Cleveland, Gene Lutz was the assistant trainer for W. L.

He had fought in his young days. And he was at the Bainbridge track, two miles below Geauga Lake where Stribling trained, with his small stable. I recall how he used to stand beside the ring and shrill, "Dance W. L., dance," as he sought to speed up the Georgia boy. And he had a rubbing liniment, which he used on horses, that he thought was good for man or beast. Gene Lutz was not particularly lucky there. And his hard luck has pursued him. Bill Keefe writes in the New Orleans Picayune:

Gene Lutz, the "mystery man" of the turf, who has had more hard luck physically and financially than any man anybody can think of on the turf, ran into another serious setback Sunday at Jefferson Park. While helping his son, Bill Lutz, saddle the filly, Miss M. Lutz, in the first race, the elder Lutz got too close to the filly, Credit System, and she kicked him so severely his leg was broken above the ankle and, after an examination by Dr. Russell E. Stone, Lutz was ordered sent to the Touro Infirmary.

Lutz, one of the best known of the veteran turfmen, has been dogged by a jinx many years. Seldom is there a fire at any race track he doesn't lose horses, horses that are not insured. Once when he was racing horses at Latonia, his home at Geauga Lake burned down and his wife's leg was broken.

Not many years after that he was at Latonia again and Mrs. Lutz was

GUY BUSH SAYS CUBSWILL TAKE NATIONAL FLAG

Sees Tough Season on Slow Ball Pitchers, Aid for Sluggers.

By Paul Mickelson.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Guy Bush stopped counting twenty-dollar bills in the tower of one of his gasoline and greasing places on the north side today to predict a pennant for the Cubs, a season-fellow Terry says. The nightmarish of the National league's slow ball pitchers, and both days for 1 of the circuit's natural sluggers.

The 11 sluggers, who the Mississippi Mudcats think will give the new lively ball one ride after another out of the National league parks, are Herman Hack Wilson, Bill Terry, the Wander brothers, Chick Hefner, Floyd Vaughan, Wally Berger, Mel Ott, and George Davis.

Those guys will get nothing but bad balls to hit at what I'm predicting. Bush, who never can figure why the Cubs lose a game, said, "And out of the whole bunch of them, that's the worst. I've been pitching 'em up now for 10 full seasons and he's the hardest man to get out. He's too smart, although I'll never forget the day I struck him out three times."

EXCITING SEASON.

"This is going to be an exciting season with that new ball here," the mudcat rambled on. "I think it is just like the one we used in 1929. Bush won 18 and lost six that year, losing the last four games he pitched. The lowered season is easier on a pitcher's fingers, enabling to get a better grip on it. As I see it, the new ball will break less but be thrown faster. The natural fast-ball pitchers should win a lot of games with it, but the pitcher who rely on slow-breaking curves probably will be chased right out of the park."

In response to the question, Bush named Parmelee, of the Giants, and Mungus and Browning, of the Cardinals, as the best of the National league and said he wouldn't be surprised to see them battling for pitching honors all the way next season.

"A team to win the 1934 National league pennant will have to have great pitching reserve strength," added the Mudcat. "With the new ball, there'll be a big parade of pitchers heading for the showers. And another thing: you won't see so many sacrifice hits in our league this year. They'll hunt for pop flies to short and stop trying sacrifices until they get the exact touch with the new sphere."

GREAT FIELDING.

"You'll see more spectacular fielding, too. The league's best infielder like Bill Jurgens, and Woody English, of the Cubs; Hughie Critz, of the Giants; Frankie Frisch, of the Cardinals; Muncie Lee, of the Pirates, and Dick Bartell, of the Phillies will be at their peak. Some of the older and slower fellows will have to step some, but some of them always seem able to rise up when necessary."

Bush, who thinks the injury to Kinner did as much as anything to keep the pennant to the Giants last year as Carl Hubbell's pitching, will leave Thursday for a visit with his folks at Shannon, Miss., and then get ready for what he figures is going to be his greatest season.

PETROLLE, ROSS CLASH TONIGHT

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The twisted-nose old man in the Indian blanket, Uncle Will Petrolle, from Duluth, trundles his creaking frame into action again tomorrow night against a youngster brimming with youth and health, Barney Ross, of Chicago, champion of all the light-weights.

That's come to be the traditional way of describing Blanket Bill and anything he tackles nowadays in a fistie way. He looks so old and puny, blinking like an ancient in an arm chair by the fire, and he's about as ordinary and natural about the way he does things as a flea-bitten hound dog.

That's the way you talk about Uncle Will until he climbs those flightless steps, as he does tomorrow night in the Bronx Coliseum for his 10-round return engagement with Ross. Shortly before the coliseum is so far up the air that the 29-year-old warrior, for any moment from the first bell on he's liable to plant right in your lap any foolhardy youngster who believes what he reads in the papers.

Ross is one of those who can't be fooled by Petrolle's liking for the old man role and an appearance that he lies the fact that he still is one of the easiest, huskiest punching prize-fighters in the 140-pound bracket. Ross, the coliseum is so far up the air that the 29-year-old warrior, for any moment from the first bell on he's liable to plant right in your lap any foolhardy youngster who believes what he reads in the papers.

On the basis of this performance, Ross is a 7-to-5 favorite in a match that promises something of a miracle in New York's present day boxing—a sell-out—Despite the fact that the coliseum is so far up the air that the 29-year-old warrior, for any moment from the first bell on he's liable to plant right in your lap any foolhardy youngster who believes what he reads in the papers.

A sell-out crowd of 14,000 would see Ross receipts up to $30,000, another gasper at a time when Madison Square Garden, in the heart of the white night, has been averaging about $8,000 a show. The match is being staged up town as a result of a manager's mutiny against the Garden's policies. All the profits will be turned over to a Christmas tree fund charity.

With the weights set at 142 pounds, giving Petrolle about five pounds the better of it, the experts give Bill an even chance to win.

Howell, Alabama Star, Injures Knee

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Spring football practice has begun at the University of Alabama, but the chief threat of the Crimson raiders, Millard Howell, halfback, and quarterback, Rhordanz, promising fullback, both will be absent through the drills.

Cochran Frank Thomas announced both men had knee injuries and he would have no chances of aggravating them.

Howell suffered a knee injury in Vanderbilt game last Thanksgiving. He was out of action for a week and a half. Rhordanz, injured last fall, underwent an operation on his knee six weeks ago, and he will not test it until next September.

A squad of 42 reported to Coach Thomas yesterday, and more will be in uniform before stiff workouts are launched next week.

Coach Thomas has plenty of problems to solve, but the two biggest appear to be the guards, with Tom Hupke and P. H. Kirkland both among the graduates.

Solem Re-engaged As Coach at Iowa

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Iowa state board of education today re-engaged Ossie Solem for four years as head football coach at the University of Iowa. No salary terms were announced, but unverified reports placed the figure at $8,500 annually.

The Bulldogs' girls' team, didn't fare so well and were defeated by the more experienced Pavo girls to the tune of 36-4.

Georgia Trout Streams To Get More New Fish

There will be more new trout for north Georgia streams this year, the superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Summerville reported yesterday to Zack Cravey, commissioner of game and fish.

The hatchery during 1933 raised and distributed about 250,000 trout for liberation in north Georgia, the repair said, but for 1934 production was estimated at more than 500,000.

Most of the trout are rainbows, but some are of the brown variety.

The 1933 distribution of warm water fish, such as bass and bream, was about 225,000 from the government hatcheries in Warm Springs and Valdosta, with a few from the state hatchery. The 1934 production was forecast at about the same figure.

LAZZERI BLOCKS YANKS' GETTING AN A-1 HURLER

McCarthy Refuses To Trade Him and Other Clubs Say No.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—If Manager Joe McCarthy were willing to part with Second Baseman Tony Lazzeri, the New York Yankees wouldn't have much trouble swinging a deal for a starting pitcher.

The Yankees have been trying for months to bolster their hurling staff but other clubs won't do business except with Lazzeri figuring in the trade. Five clubs have made offers for the hard-hitting veteran, the Yankee business office revealed.

"But McCarthy isn't letting Tony go at any price, and that settles that," explains Secretary Ed Barrow.

Hubbell, Johnson To Be Honored.

Carl Hubbell and Walter Johnson will be guests of honor at the annual dinner of the New York Baseball Writers, February 4. Hubbell, whose pitching helped the New York Giants win the National league flag and the World Series, will receive a plaque as the outstanding performer of 1933. Johnson will be given an award for having done the most for baseball over a period of years.

Terry Arrives For Confab Today.

Bill Terry, Giants' manager, will arrive in town tomorrow for a visit in connection with his oil activities but probably will drop around to the Giants' offices to see how things are getting along. With the signing of Adolfo Luque, aged relief pitcher, seven Giants already have agreed to salary terms for 1934.

Indian Contracts Returned Unsigned.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 23.—(AP) Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, returned today from a fortnight's absence to find in his mail a number of unsigned contracts—returned by ball players dissatisfied with salary offers.

Refusing to reveal the identity of the holdouts, Evans did say he has yet to receive a signed contract indicating satisfaction with the reduced salary level of 1934.

Evans has not yet abandoned hope of obtaining one or two experienced infielders before the training season opens. One who has been mentioned is Oscar Melillo, of the Browns.

CLOTHIERS WIN ANOTHER, 40-33

Ability to sink foul shots gave the Parks-Chambers quintet a 40-to-33 decision over the Harbison & Short five Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Both teams tied in securing 13 field goals but the Clothiers shot 14 fouls to sew up the battle. Harbison put up a game fight all the way.

Glenn Leathers Shows Rare Kind of Courage

Returns to Traps Despite Explosion Which Cost Him a Finger While Bird Hunting.

By Jack Troy.

His right hand was swathed in bandages. And there was a haunting depression just to the right of his "trigger" finger. One wondered about it. And about the red color of the exposed parts of epidermis.

"I would like a box of shells," he said. Jack Tway, secretary of the Capitol Gun Club, handed them across the counter.

And he went out and broke half or thereabouts of the 25 skeet targets.

It really is a remarkable example of courage and desire to participate in a sport that Glenn Leathers, Atlanta sportsman, considers the best sport of them all.

Only five days before in a quiet hunt Glenn Leathers became a victim of fate. The gun he was using jammed.

PURPLES SWEEP BASKET SERIES

Boys' High made a clean sweep of its two-game series with Decatur High by winning, 27 to 24, Tuesday afternoon on the Henry Grady court.

Both games were won by a margin of three points, as the first ended 20 to 16 in favor of the Purples on the Decatur court.

It was one of the best games this season on the Henry Grady court and except for a brief period early in the second half, there was never more than three or four points difference.

Boys' High took an early lead and was never headed, though Decatur forced the count with less than two minutes to play, only to have Boys' High sink a long field goal and a foul to win out. Boys' High led, 13 to 11, at the half.

Collins, Flynn, the midge Decatur forward, led the scoring with 11 points, with Captain Maffett and Kelly, Boys' High, three points behind, tied for second place.

In the second half Sam Roberts went to center and Charlie Burgess went to guard for Decatur and the shift worked well for Decatur's passing was considerably better in the second half.

Boys' High continued to improve its play, particularly at guarding and passing. The Purples missed fewer shots than in recent games.

The lineups: Boys' High: Pos. DECATUR (24) Echols (4) Pos. F. Richards (11) Ginsburg (5) Pos. F. Gossert (4) House (2) Pos. F. Roberts (5) Kelly (8) Pos. F. Johnson (4) Substitutes: Boys' High: Decatur, none.

Marist and North Fulton postponed a game scheduled for Tuesday afternoon to Friday afternoon. The game will be played on the North Fulton court at Buckhead.

Boys' High, G. M. A. Play at College Park.

Boys' High and G. M. A. will play at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon on the College Park court in the first of a series of games between members of the Big Three, in preparation for the annual G. I. A. A. tournament in Macon, March 1.

The Purples have won four and lost three games thus far, and have showed continued improvement since the opening of the season. Only Captain Ott Maffett was returned from last year, but with a capable squad of reserves and new material, Coach Johnston has built a strong team.

Outstanding Boys' High victories have been won over Albany High, after the south Georgia boys had won nine straight, a victory over the Georgia Freshmen and a win over an improved Marist College team.

G. M. A. started the season without the services of a single player from last year, but Coach Burbage has found a combination that has worked well together. They have lost only one game, and that by three points to Lanier in Macon.

The Cadets appear to be the most improved basketball team in the city, as only a couple of the players have had any real experience prior to the opening of the present practice season.

Boys' High's lineup will likely consist of Echols and Gins

Atlanta Probable Site of National Clay Courts Meet

SEVEN MEETS BEING PLANNED; INTEREST HIGH

Great Year in Tennis Forecast; Local Stars Tuning Up.

By Jack Troy.

Atlanta has what is considered better than a 50-50 chance to secure the national clay courts championship this spring, The Constitution learned last night.

The Atlanta Club, progressive tennis leader of the Gate City, is sponsoring the event, won by Bryan Grant in 1930.

George C. Niles, a leading officer in the club and instrumental last year in obtaining outstanding southern tournaments, plans to go to Chicago soon to press Atlanta's bid. Chicago staged the event last year.

It has been due to the untiring efforts of the Atlanta Club, organized last year, that Atlanta is now experiencing a markedly increased interest in tennis.

BEST TOURNEYS.

A group of young men organized the club. And, with enthusiasm characteristic of youth and sound business judgment, they went out after the best tournaments in the south.

Atlanta thus was afforded the opportunity to see the best southern players in action.

Leading players of the nation will come here in the event Atlanta is successful in getting in the national clay courts. And it seems the championship is coming here.

Tennis leaders are looking for one of the greatest years of the sport in Atlanta during the spring and summer.

OTHER MEETS.

Among other leading tournaments expected to be staged here, probably all of them at the Atlanta Club, include the southern junior and boys' and southern senior again, the Cotton States, the Georgia state, a special invitation tournament preceding the state tournament at Pinehurst and, of course, the annual city event.

Interest in tennis definitely showed an upturn during the summer of 1933. The Atlanta club, then newly organized, sponsored a tournament a month. It came to be known as the tournament-a-month club.

Bill Tilden was here during the spring. And Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, now engaged in a world tour, will be here in the summer.

STARS PRACTICING.

Already Bryan Grant, Butz Boulware, Billy Reese, Russell Mallon, Clay Courts and other Atlanta stars are practicing for coming tournaments. Boulware, Grant, Reese and Bobbitt will take part in numerous tournaments. Grant, seeking a place on the Davis cup team, will make most of the leading events. Boulware and Reese will leave here following the end of the school year at Tech and play in leading eastern tournaments. They will climax in the national intercollegiate. Bobbitt, southern boys' champion, will play at Pinehurst and other tournaments at home and abroad.

In addition to Grant, Bobbitt, Miss Gladys Vallebona, one of the latest of the prospective Atlanta stars, and Mrs. Elta Taylor Coyne, Georgia state women's champion, will play at Pinehurst. Other Atlantans are expected to play.

Mild winter weather has seen an influx of players to the various tennis courts of the city. And should weather continue to be favorable, tennis will get away to an early start this spring.

INTEREST HIGH.

Tennis shops report early purchases of rackets. Interest is definitely on the upgrade. Most of the players will be in the season's tournaments. The invitation tournament planned here would attract leading stars who would go from here to the Pinehurst event.

Russell Bobbitt, No. 5 nationally for boys, southern boys' champion, singles and doubles; Tennessee state champion, singles, doubles and juniors; and George Boynton, Georgia state singles and doubles champion, and western doubles champion with Bobby Harman, has been practicing all winter.

His instructor has been Milo Potuck, who started him on the road to fame. Bobbitt has grown. He has lost some weight, but his standing at 125. Jumping rope at the instruction of Potuck, he has become faster. Bobbitt has a wonderful gift of anticipation. And his driving game is expected to take him to the Pinehurst event.

LATEST PROSPECT. Atlanta's latest prospect, also a protégé of Potuck, is Miss Gladys Vallebona, a stocky girl of 17. She employs an excellent driving game. Miss Vallebona, one of the latest of the Atlanta stars, will enter all the tournaments during the season. She is Potuck's star, ideally suited for tournament play. Her game is sound, and has shown marked ability in a short time.

In addition to the regular tournaments there will be the usual club tournaments. More of these are anticipated.

It looks like a great year for tennis. And much of the credit belongs to the young officers of the Atlanta Tennis Club—Deveraux Lippitt, George Niles and Billy Reese—who made Atlanta tournament-minded last year.

Progressives Meet. The Jewish Progressive Club basketball team, fresh from victory over the strong Buford A. C. quintet, will swing back into action on their Pryor Street court in a week-end game with the Florida Pipes of Jacksonville as opposition.

The J. P. C.'s have rolled up nine straight victories this season and have showed a vastly improved team under the direction of Joe Bonowitz, star outfielder of the Atlanta Crackers last season.

Hank Browdy, new center, has added a great deal to the scoring punch of the club. He is a crack shot.

Russell Bobbitt, southern boys' tennis champion and ranked No. 5 nationally, has been practicing all winter under the direction of his instructor, Milo Potuck. Bobbitt is a player of much promise. A bright tennis future is predicted for him.

HERMAN IS SAID TO BE HOLDOUT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Floyd (Babe) Herman, Chicago Cubs outfielder, is reported to be a holdout again.

Friends of Herman said today the perennial holdout was dissatisfied with the salary cut the Chicago club indicated in the contract mailed him, and that he had returned it unsigned.

For six years with Brooklyn and Cincinnati, Herman hit better than .300 but last season with Chicago he slumped sharply. He could not be reached tonight for a statement.

Bill Tilden was here during the spring. And Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, now engaged in a world tour, will be here in the summer.

3 STAR WRESTLING BOUTS. DAVISOURT VS. COX SPEER VS. BLACKSTOCK JUDSON VS. RAYNES

City Auditorium—Wednesday PRICES $1.00, 70c, 50c PLUS FEDERAL AND CITY TAX

ROUGH RICHARD MEETS JOE COX AT AUDITORIUM

Speer and Blackstock, Raynes and Judson Complete Mat Card.

Rough Richard Davisourt, the California caveman, will attempt to prove to Atlanta wrestling fans tonight at the city auditorium that he is improving with age and experience. Davisourt meets a young opponent—Joe Cox—who is something of a villain himself. There is no room for sentiment in the mat game. And so Cox says he will have no mercy on the old man.

MAKES HIM UNHAPPY. Such talk, of course, does not make Davisourt any too happy. He does not like being referred to as an old man. And particularly does he dislike any reference to his slowing down.

And so it should be a great feature match, this best-two-out-of-three-fall contest. Matchmaker Henry Seber has arranged. Dick Davisourt is really one of the most colorful performers in the game. He will remain for some time to come the equal of any of the younger stars.

Two popular Atlanta favorites, Frank Speer and Marshall Blackstock, will get together in one of two 30-minute matches. Speer is expected to lead toward world fame. Blackstock is good, too.

NEWCOMER. Dick Raynes, who will make his bow to Atlanta fans, meets Frank Judson, popular wrestler, in the other 30-minute match. Judson is favored to win.

The opening match will begin at 8:15. Tickets will be on sale all day at the Piedmont Hatters.

BI-STATE LOOP APPEARS SURE

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Completion of the organization of the Bi-State league as a member of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs is expected to be completed by a meeting to be held at Mayodan, N. C., January 27, according to Joe F. Carr, promotional director of the minor leagues. A report received at national association headquarters.

Carr attended a meeting of interested parties at Martinsville, Va., last night. He said, "It operated independently last year and gave its patrons some fine baseball. There is no reason why it should not prosper under organized banners."

"One could almost walk around the circuit, and it will not be necessary to carry a suitcase or a trunk. Any city that it should not wish, 'Danville' was not represented at Martinsville, but I stopped there on my way to Durham. It looks like a live wire place. I interviewed an interested man there, and he was very receptive. I believe Danville will be a member."

Other cities from which the membership is to be chosen included Martinsville, Mayodan, Fiedale, Bassett, Reidsville, Stuart and Leesville-Spartanburg.

Dr. M. L. Webb, of Mayodan, a baseball enthusiast, is being mentioned as the president of the league. It will have a Class D rating and will offer opportunity to many players of the territory which it covers.

Horseman Arrested On Doping Charge

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Miami racing commission today banned Harry Cooper, horse owner and trainer, and his stable from all race tracks in Florida "for all time" and canceled his license as a trainer.

The action was taken at a meeting of the commission that followed the arrest of Cooper on charges that grew out of the finding in his home by federal and state authorities a quantity of narcotics, needles and alleged formulas for "doping" horses.

Officers presented the evidence to the commission and the finding of having found it in a small storeroom with which Cooper attempted to escape when they raided his home.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Memphis baseball club, today announced the consummation of a trade whereby Clay Touchstone, star Birmingham right-handed pitcher, will be in the Memphis lineup this year.

Clarence Griffin, a Chick southpaw for several seasons, is going to Birmingham in the exchange. The deal also involved a cash payment to the Barons, the amount of which was not disclosed by Watkins.

THE SPORTLIGHT

Another Retirement.

More than a few sentimental words were penned on the signing of Babe Ruth's last playing contract. Or what might be his last playing contract. But 1934 marks the final playing performance of another athlete who is even better known than Babe Ruth.

This news came in the announcement that John D. Rockefeller Sr. had played his last round of Florida golf and would no longer put on his nine-hour march over the Ormond highway.

Mr. Rockefeller, now in his 95th year—he will be 95 on July 8—was among the few who did not let the age of 90 drive him from competitive sport.

I recall the time, only a few brief years ago, when he and General Ames had their series of Florida golf duels, all fought to the final putt.

The terrific duel of his 90 and General Ames, a Civil War veteran, was 93. Their combined ages were a matter of 183 years, a great tribute to their tenacity and their love of outdoor play.

For these matches between two white-haired men nearing the century mark were as keenly fought as any final of a championship.

More than 30 years ago, while living in Cleveland, Mr. Rockefeller was afflicted with indigestion and his health was beginning to crumble up. He was unable to eat and his control was beginning to wobble.

Shortly after this he took up golf and 30 years later it was the game of golf that kept him in health and happiness.

He was a deeply interested student of the game, who knew more than his share about the mechanics of a swing, which long ago had lost most of its power but still remained unbroken.

He was not long, but he was straight, and unlike the average golfer, his niblick was rarely blazing hot or emitting smoke.

Florida golf will miss him and his daily nine-hole march into the face of time's attacking years.

Beating Time. We talk about the Babe at 40 and Tilden at 41, but one of the greatest battles against age I ever saw took place on a golf course.

This was a four-ball match at nine holes, in which the youngest entry was 83 and the oldest was 88. The average age was 86.

The total age of the four ran to 344 years. Yet they were as keen as the young men who play the game through as any championship competitor I've ever looked at, and the legends, a report received at national association headquarters.

Carr attended a meeting of interested parties at Martinsville, Va., last night. He said, "It operated independently last year and gave its patrons some fine baseball. There is no reason why it should not prosper under organized banners."

Griffin Is Traded For C. Touchstone

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Memphis baseball club, today announced the consummation of a trade whereby Clay Touchstone, star Birmingham right-handed pitcher, will be in the Memphis lineup this year.

Clarence Griffin, a Chick southpaw for several seasons, is going to Birmingham in the exchange. The deal also involved a cash payment to the Barons, the amount of which was not disclosed by Watkins.

C. C. Woodpeckers Rout R. E. Lee, 78-22

BUTLER, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The C. C. Woodpeckers gained their tenth consecutive victory last night by defeating the Robert E. Lee Athletic Association, of Thomaston, by the overwhelming score of 78-22. Marlin's excellent guarding and scoring was the outstanding feature of the game, while the teamwork of the entire squad was remarkable. Fancher, who scored the last game on account of a bad arm, played the last half of this game, scoring 12 points.

G.I.C. TOURNEY ATTRACTS SIX ATLANTA TEAMS

Decatur to Meet Marietta In Opening Round February 8.

By Roy White.

Eleven teams, six of which are from Atlanta, will participate in the fourth annual North Georgia Intercollegiate conference basketball championship tournament February 8, 9 and 10 at Gainesville, Ga. It was announced Tuesday afternoon.

Those teams represented are Decatur, Marietta, Fulton, Commercial, Druid Hills and North Fulton, from Atlanta and Marietta, Griffin, Newnan, R. E. Lee, of Thomaston and Gainesville, the host.

The committee consisting of E. P. McIlwain, Fulton chairman; T. G. Duhon, Griffin, and A. H. Pittman, Gainesville, completed all plans pertaining to the tourney, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Fulton High school building.

DECATUR, MARIETTA. The tourney will open at 7 o'clock Thursday night, February 8, with Decatur, the defending champion, playing Marietta. Two other games will be played on the opening night.

Two games Friday afternoon and two more Friday night will complete the tournament. The semifinals will be played on Saturday morning. The finals at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

All games will be played on the Commercial Mills court, one of the best in the state. The invitation to hold the tourney at the Commercial Mills was extended through M. T. Grimes, athletic director at Marietta, and the new world's tropical and subtropical regions. What a problem in distribution!

The case at hand, and close at hand it is, is the problem of the distribution of the globe. Optimist, say you? No, for the work is to be done, and it is done, and I am preparing to do it.

MOVEMENT UNDER WAY TO NEUTRALIZE AUSTRIA

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A movement began today in international circles to give Austria, in the interest of European peace, the same neutrality as that accorded Switzerland.

European powers would be asked to adopt a "hands off" policy as regards Austria whose independence was guaranteed by the treaty of Versailles ending the World War.

Chancellor Dollfus, of Austria, was reported as ready to appeal to the League of Nations unless he receives satisfactory assurances that Chancellor Hitler of Germany will cease what he termed Nazi interference with Austrian internal affairs.

If Dollfus appeals to the League of Nations under the terms of the first paragraph of Article XI, of the League covenant—which provides that any threat of war is a matter of concern to the league, and if any member complains a council meeting shall be immediately summoned—the secretary-general, J. A. C. Avenol, must convolve the council to extraordinary session.

If Dollfus should appeal under the second paragraph of the same article—providing "the friendly right" of League members to the attention of the league to disturbing circumstances—a special session of the council would not be required, but, nevertheless, probably would be convened.

It is pointed out that Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has urged Hitler to adopt a less belligerent attitude toward Austria, pointing out that the League of Nations is the League to which Austria appeals to secure a disarmament agreement with France.

FILM BANKRUPTS LIST LIABILITIES OF FIVE MILLION

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Hollywood produced a multi-starred drama last year that never will be shown in the theaters. The bankruptcy of 1933. Figuratively it was a $5,000,000 creation involving a galaxy of producers, actors, actresses, screen writers and directors.

The screen notables and ex-notables who asked the court to declare them insolvent reported liabilities aggregating near the $5,000,000 mark and assets of less than half that amount.

The development of the talking pictures caused a number of producers, actors, actresses, writers and directors to lose their fortunes. They were unable to adapt themselves to the new type of entertainment. Others were not trying "come-backs."

Jesse L. Lasky, the veteran producer who has started many to stardom, listed liabilities of $2,020,024.24 of which $894,869 were in unsecured claims. Assets were listed at $134,718.35.

Another veteran producer, Mack Sennett, who started Mabel Normand and Gloria Swanson to stardom, was the second largest bankrupt, listing assets at only $2,755.81 and liabilities at $1,402,379.62. Of the liabilities, $994,460.91 were said to be secured.</

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(P)—Overcoming early hesitancy, stocks rallied with some spirit in the last hour today and the uptick was as the advance was resumed.

The strongest demonstrations were confined to a few groups, including steel, aircraft, ticker service companies, but late buying was well distributed and the market on the average closed with a net gain of slightly more than a point. Bond prices were firm, others rather irregular.

The stock market's recent resistance to selling was undoubtedly responsible in part for the renewed efforts of bull traders to point the list higher. Several leaders, among them American Steel, General Motors, Curtiss-Wright, A. O. Smith, reached the new highs for the past year or more.

Aviation issues had their best day in some time, rising 1 to 2 points, or more. Demand for these shares, as well as for stocks, appeared to have been prompted by the house committee's favorable report on the Vinson bill authorizing about $470,000,000 in new construction. Also, a financial ticker service estimated that the United States Steel Corporation would report for the first 1933 quarter its third successive operating profit, which it says is a record, having approximated five or six million. Several steel shares were up about a point.

Rails Quiet, Firm.

Rails were quiet but firm. Norfolk & Western voted its first extra dividend, $2 a common share, since 1931, which, along with the 10-cent dividend to the Pennsylvania on the stock held by that road, strength in "heavy" industrials was especially noticeable in General Motors, which crossed $200 for a gain of more than a point.

Chemical stocks evidenced strength, Alkali rising 3-4 and DuPont 2-3. Chain store shares were among the favored specialties, General Mercantile and Co. showing a 10-cent advance. Sales for the day totaled $2,826,000 shares.

The market average is now less than 10 points under the July top from which prices tumbled abruptly into a decline that lasted into the winter.

Foreign exchanges again moved narrowly.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—Opinion has been consolidated without important reactions and it appears probable that the market will continue to hold its ground. The probabilities are that this uncertainty will bring on more or less liquidation and further lower prices.

BEER & CO.—From all indications Tuesday, stocks are headed for higher prices, but we would not advise a heavy investment in stocks at this time because of the heavy area of resistance overhanging.

DORRIS & CO.—The outlook for the immediate future of stocks can be said to be favorable. The technical reaction has come and gone and there is a very strong feeling that the market was prepared to resume the advance from the present level.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—With a sound technical position preserved and every reason to anticipate continued new stock issues for the next two months or more we remain unequivocally bullish.

COTTON OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—The strength of other markets seems to have revived bullish sentiment to a considerable extent but uncertainty over the average is increasing. The probabilities are that this uncertainty will bring on more or less liquidation and further lower prices.

BEER & CO.—Pending Secretary Wallace's radio talk further developments in the average reduction campaign and cotton-control legislation we advise waiting for reactions before making a move.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—Purchases made on setbacks should eventually prove profitable.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—We would prefer not to follow the advance.

FENNER & BEANE—Grain Opinion.

FENNER & BEANE—Grain market is acting well bearing out our contention that it should be bought on the minor setbacks.

TWO LEADERS

in one Great Company!

ONE leading product makes a company a great success. Two leaders make history!

But ever since it was first organized, the American Oil Company has been doing the unusual.

First came AMOCO-GAS—the original special motor fuel. All the ordinary premium gasolines you read about—or hear about—or have been using—are but imitations of AMOCO-GAS. For AMOCO-GAS made history almost two decades ago! It revolutionized two major industries—gasoline and automotive. It made possible today's high compression motor.

AMOCO-GAS costs less than regular gasoline or ordinary premium gasoline—on a mileage basis alone. Its amazing pick-up—power—riding luxury and driving ease—and other operating economies are yours gratis. They cost you nothing!

But the great American Oil Company's research laboratories didn't stop with AMOCO-GAS.

They next created Orange AMERICAN GAS—made with a pure petroleum base and the best gasoline selling at regular gas price.

It was the first "regular" to be colored—orange—to prevent substitution. Other gasolines are now also colored orange—but matching the color doesn't match the quality of Orange AMERICAN GAS.

Take your choice! For the lowest-cost-per-mile—AMOCO-GAS. For regular priced gasoline at its best—Orange AMERICAN GAS. They're both headliners in one great company—and each the best in its price class.
